FORTIETH CONGRESS.

Impeachment Court Adjourned Till Saturday—House Proceedings—Vote on Southern State Constitutions—The New Tax Bill—Railroad Legislation.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, May 12, 1868.

SENATE.

Senator EDMUND'S order rescinding the rule requiring the vote on impeachment to be taken to-day was adopted without division.

Senator CHANDLER stated his colleague, Mr. Howard, was ill, and on his motion it was agreed the Court should adjourn till Saturday.

The Senate was called to order.

Senator DRAKE moved to adjourn until to-morrow. Lost, 23 to 27.

Senator YATES moved to adjourn till Friday.

Senators Anthony and Hendricks opposed, and Senators Drake, Morton and Yates favored the proposition, which was finally laid aside while various House bills were disposed of.

After a long discussion, and the passage of the District of Columbia charter bill, the Senate adjourned at 12.50.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The SPEAKER presented a letter from Gen. Grant giving the votes on the Constitutions in Southern States, viz: North Carolina: for, 92,599; against, 71,820. South Carolina: for, 70;758; against, 27,288. Louisiana: for, 66,152; against, 48,739. Georgia: for, 89,007; against, 71,309; Alabama: for, 69,807; against, 1,005. Referred to Reconstruction Committee.

Mr. SCHENCK, from the Committee on Ways and Means, reported a bill to reduce into one act and amend the laws relating to internal revenue taxes. The Internal Revenue Bureau is to be changed to a department. The Commissioner has complete power to appoint Commissioners and remove all subordinate officers. The department is divided into different divisions, with a chief to each. The most marked change in the old law is in regard to distilled spirits, the provisions guarding against fraud being more stringent, leaving little to the discretion of Courts. The tax remains at two dollars per gallon, to be paid in all cases at the distillery, by means of stamps. On all kinds of beer the tax is one dollar per barrel, snuff of all kinds forty cents per pound; chewing tobacco, and all smoking tobacco not made exclusively of stems, forty cents per pound; smoking tobacco made exclusively of stems, and all makes of refuse, fifty-six cents per pound; on cigarettes and cigars, and all descriptions made of tobacco or any other substitute therefor, ten dollars per thousand. The [illegible] tion, is forbidden. The tax on wines remains about the same as in the old law. There is nothing about iron or coal. The tax on gas is reduced from twenty-five cents per 1,000 cubic feet to ten cents. The tax on refined petroleum is kept at ten cents per gallon. Places of amusement, in addition to two cents, are to pay a specific tax on each performance, from two dollars to twenty, according to its sitting capacity. There are but few alterations in the law relating to incomes, legacies and successions, excepting they provide for a more perfect administration of the same. Manufactures are exempted from taxation in accordance with the law passed several weeks ago. The tax on ground coffee and spices is retained.

The bill was ordered to be printed and recommitted, Mr. SCHENCK giving notice that he would bring it back to the House within a week or ten days. Two or three days will be allowed for general discussion, and the amplest opportunity for amendment and debate on all parts of the bill.

Mr. SCHENCK, from the Committee on Ordnance, reported a joint resolution directing the Secretary of War to sell damaged and unserviceable arms, ordnance and ordnance stores, which, on objection, went over till after the morning hour.

Mr. PRICE, from the Committee on Pacific Railroad, reported a joint resolution to construe the provisions in the Pacific Railrod acts regarding the use of American iron so as to declare that American iron shall be used for all rails, chairs, fish bars, bolts and spikes in laying and repairing the road, which passed.

Mr. PRICE also reported back a substitute for the joint resolution introdnced some time since by Mr. Washburne, of Wisconsin, to regulate the tariff for freight and passengers on the Union and Central Pacific Railroads and their branches. The substitute provides for a Board of Commissioners, to consist of the Secretary of War, Secretary of the Interior and Attorney General, to establish annually a tariff of prices for freight and passengers; provided, it shall not take effect till there shall be a continuous line of Railroad completed and in running order from Omaha to Sacramento.

After considerable debate, during which several amendments were offered, Mr. COVODE made the remark, touching the appointment of a Board of Commissioners, that if he owned the Pacific Railroad he should not hesitate a moment, if he wanted to charge exorbitant prices. He could buy three men cheaper than he could buy two hundred. He had tried it on, [Laughter,] and knew what could be done with the head of a department. He had acquired some knowledge on the subject at this session. The heads of departments were purchasable if members of Congress were, and should know better than the representatives of the people what the wants of the people were.

Mr. ELIOT asked Mr. Covode what the average prices of members of the Cabinet were, but got no reply.

Mr. PRICE moved the previous question, which was seconded.

Mr. FARNSWORTH'S motion to recommit was lost—62 against 68.

Mr. BENJAMIN moved to lay the whole subject on the table. Rejected—36 to 60.

The question recurred on the amendment of Mr. WASHBURNE, of Indiana, to strike out of the joint resolution the proviso that it shall not take effect until there shall be completed a continuous line of railroad running from Omaha to Sacramento. This was adopted—yeas 76, nays 47.

The question then recurred on the amendment offered by Mr. Clark, of Kansas, that the tariff shall not exceed double the average rates charged on the different lines of railroads between the Mississippi river and the Atlantic ocean in latitudes north of St. Louis, which was agreed to without division, and the joint resolution as amended passed—76 to 37.

Mr. CHANLER asked leave to offer a resolution requesting the President to inform the House of all the facts, when they came to his knowledge, as to the treatment of certain American citizens reported to have been unjustly arrested, imprisoned and flogged while in prison by authority of an officer of the government of Mexico.

Messrs. Butler and Harding objected.

The House, at 3:15, went into Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union, and was addressed by Mr. Broomall, of Penna., in opposition to the bill introduced some weeks ago by his colleague (Mr. Woodward) to test the constitutionality of acts of Congress.

Mr. WOODWARD announced his intention of replying at a future day.

Mr. MUNGEN, referring to a resolution offered by him yesterday, in reference to the treatment of rebel prisoners, said he could prove by proper testimony that a proposition had been made by officers of the Confederate Government to officers of this Government, when Union soldiers were dying at Andersonville, Millen and other Southern prisons, to pay three times the appraised value of medicines for them, to be put under the charge of Federal soldiers.

The Committee rose, and the House adjourned.

IMPEACHMENT.

Affairs at Washington Yesterday—Intense Excitement—The Vote Adjourned to Saturday—A Conviction Still Relied Upon—Strong Pressure Upon the Recreant Senators—Trumbull Hooted at in the Streets—Bribery Boasted Of.

WASHINGTON, May 12, 1868.

The interest in the impeachment proceedings, which continues unabated, filled the galleries of the Senate Chamber before the Court convened. The aisles and passage ways were filled with extra policemen for the preservation of order. A good many Senators and members of the House were on the floor in earnest conversation during the half hour before the Senate was called to order. A great deal of canvassing as to the probable result has been done since yesterday.

Full State delegations, including all the Congressmen and prominent men here from their respective States, have waited upon several of the doubtful Senators, and in one or two instances have received assurances that one or more of the articles—generally the eleventh—would be voted for by those who were believed to be against conviction.

The Managers count up this morning one majority for conviction certain, but the illness of Senator Howard continues. His physicians have declared that his life would be endangered should he be brought to the Capitol to cast his vote. It has been determined, therefore, to postpone the final vote for some days, probably until Saturday or Monday. Should Mr. Howard recover, the Managers are yet confident the President's removal will be effected.

At a caucus of the Republican Senators just held, it was decided to postpone the final vote until Saturday next. This will undoubtedly pass the Senate.

There is no abatement in the excitement throughout the city this morning. Betting is going on freely, and both sides are confident as to the result. The Republicans are still very hopeful, and by no means concede that impeachment will fall to-day. A count this morning shows that if there is no break in the Republican ranks Johnson's conviction is sure by one majority. The whole case last night seemed to rest upon the vote of one man, Mr. Willey, of West Virginia. He has, however, expressed his intention to vote for conviction on three or four articles, and this insures one more than is necessary for a two-third vote, including the vote of Senator Wade.

Senator Howard was taken very ill yesterday with the brain fever, and was in quite a critical condition during all last night, and this morning finds not much improvement in his condition. When not delirious he expresses a firm determination to be carried to the Senate Chamber to-day and vote for the President's conviction. His physicians held a consultation this morning, at eleven o'clock, to decide whether it would be safe to permit him to be carried to the Capitol. If they decide against his going, the Senate will undoubtedly pass Edmunds' resolution to postpone the vote for a few days, or until Howard is able to be present.

The feeling against Senators Fessenden and Trumbull for their treachery is very strong here. The Maine delegation in Congress held a meeting last night and decided to wait upon Fessenden this morning and demand that he vote in accordance with the expressed wishes of his State or resign his position. The Illinois members of Congress went in a body this morning to see Senator Trumbull and make the same demands upon him. What response he gave has not transpired at the time of sending this dispatch. Trumbull was hooted at on the streets last evening while returning from the Senate chamber.

With the adjournment of the Senate until Saturday the impeachment stock went up rapidly. It is believed that the public sentiment will become so strong by that time as to ensure the success of impeachment. An intimate friend of President Johnson asserts, privately, that no matter what influences are brought to bear upon Senators Trumbull, Fessenden, Grimes and Henderson, they are committed in writing to support the President against conviction. It is stated that these four gentlemen had a private interview with the President about three weeks ago, and pledged themselves to vote for his acquittal if he would nominate General Schofield as Secretary of War. This statement comes from the best of sources, and is credited by a great many Senators.

The opinion is freely expressed by the Republican Senators that a free use of money has been made. The members of the whisky ring claim this morning that they have disposed of two millions of money during the past ten days, but preserve an entire reticence.

Court reassembled at 11:30 A. M. As soon as the journal was read, Mr. Chandler rose and said the condition of his colleague, Mr. Howard, was such as to prevent his being present, and he therefore moved that when the Court adjourn it will be until Saturday next.

Mr. Edmunds' motion to rescind the resolution to vote to-day was then adopted.

Mr. Hendricks moved that Mr. Chandler's motion be amended to read "Thursday." Disagreed to without calling the yeas and nays.

Mr. Tipton moved that the Court adjourn until Friday. Lost.

Mr. Chandler's motion to adjourn until Saturday was then adopted.

On motion of Mr. Drake the Senate then adjourned until Saturday.

The Missouri delegation waited upon Mr. Henderson to demand that he vote for conviction on some of the articles or resign his position. After a full and free talk Mr. Henderson gave them to understand that he should vote for the President's conviction on the eleventh article.

The Senate assembled on the adjournment of the Court, and an effort was made to proceed to the consideration of business of a general character. This was opposed by Yates, Drake, Morton and Cameron, each of whom spoke against it with much feeling, saying that under the present degree of excitement, it was impossible for Senators to speak with that freedom or composure on legislation which was necessary.

It is understood that Forney has tendered his resignation as Secretary of the Senate, to take effect upon the election of his successor.

An interchange of opinion between many Radical Senators and advocates of impeachment, since the adjournment of the Senate, leaves no doubt but that on Saturday the President will be convicted on one or more of the articles. This morning it was thought that if enough votes could be obtained to carry the eleventh article, that would be satisfactory. Mr. Ross, who has been considered very doubtful, and as manifesting a tendency to go with the friends of the President, expressed his firm determination this morning to go for conviction on all the articles. Willey also said that he should support the second and eleventh articles. This ensures thirty eight votes on the last article. On the first article but thirty-three votes can be counted upon. On the second article, thirty-seven votes are set down as sure to go for supporting it. The remainder of the articles are given up; the fight will now be concentrated upon the second and eleventh articles.

The feeling of gloom that has spread over the city since last night is almost painful. It seems that many Democrats, who were in favor of the removal of Johnson, sincerely pity the Republicans, but tell them that the members of their party never hang together in a crisis. The reports that I have sent you exclusively about bribes, are found to-day to be true. Mr. Johnson's acquittal has cost himself and his friends and the Government several millions of dollars. No one denies that several Senators have been bribed. The President is in high spirits to-day, and remarked that he would be acquitted by ten Republican Senators. He spoke with entire confidence of this, and his friends are jubilant.

Cameron, Morton, Sherman and Wilson were selected to watch the proceedings to-day; and as they considered the suspected Senators still doubtful, they moved and carried an adjournment.

The adjournment destroys all previous calculations, and all is again rumor. Great indignation is felt by the friends of the President, as they were certain a vote to-day would clear him.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The Herald is of the opinion that the Senate will convict Johnson after all. If he is acquitted it will be because the Radicals fear that they will be worse off with Wade than Johnson.

The World says the President will be acquitted, but it will be a hair-breadth escape.

The Times thinks that Mr. Johnson will be convicted on some one of the articles, and that he will be removed, although the defection among the Radical Senators is quite marked. The editor imagines that on the second and third articles Mr. Johnson must be found guilty.

The Tribune has a dispatch from Washington, dated 2:05 this morning, stating that Howard's physicians are of opinion that he will be able to take his seat in the Senate to-day. Frelinghuysen is sure to vote for conviction on the first three articles. This will carry Willey, also.

The Philadelphia Press says: The Republican party, no matter what may happen to-day, stands defiant and hopeful. It has survived greater defeats. It has made greater sacrifices than any that can be suffered or asked now. The organization that breasted the storms of civil war, that bore with unquailing heart Fredericksburg and Chickamauga, cannot be destroyed by any disaster of this hour. The excitement at the Capitol is represented by our correspondent as intense, but it is hardly less so than that which stirs in Philadelphia as we write. Never since the war has anxiety been so great and deep. Never have loyal men gathered with such solicitude and earnestness around the centres of news, and our telegrams show the scene in this city is only the counterpart of what is going on in St. Louis, Cincinnati, New York and over all the great central towns. This indignant feeling, although raging mountain high, is perhaps the best preparation for our recovery from whatever disaster may befall us this morning. It will serve to brace and nerve every loyal man. There is no need for despondency. The vote of a few men in the Senate is not the work of a majority of the Republicans in that body, and must not weaken the spirit or slacken the energies of the brave and true men who have encountered and lived through many misfortunes.

COLUMBUS, O., 12.—Great indignation is felt here among the Republicans at the action of some of the Senators in the impeachment case. The Democracy are jubilant.

Lutheran National Synod—Fifth Day.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 11.—Hon. John J. Cochran moved that the Committee on a German newspaper act in conjunction with the "Lutheran Observer Association," for the publication of a German paper in the interests of the General Synod, but, after some interesting debate, he withdrew the motion, and Rev. Mr. Suckenburg, of Pittsburgh, moved that the "Lutheran Observer Association" be requested to act in conjunction with the Publication Committee for its publication. Agreed to.

Rev. Goodlin, of Ohio; Buhrman, of Pennsylvania, and Albert, of Philadelphia, were selected as alternates.

Cincinnati was fixed as the place of the next meeting of the General Synod.

Rev. Dr. Diehl, of Maryland moved that the time of the next Convention be Thursday, May 16th, 1869.

EDUCATIONAL.

Monthly Meeting of the Central Board of Education—Reports—Tax Levied for the Ensuing Year.

A regular monthly meeting of the Central Board of Education was held in the rooms of the Board at the corner of Wood and Sixth streets, Tuesday, the 12th inst., at two o'clock P. M.

Members present—Messrs. Anderson, Covert, Craig, Getty, Harrison, Mays, McAuley, Nobbs, Sergeant, Wilson, and President Brush.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved.

The Secretary then read the report of the Principal of the High School, from which it appears that the total attendance since the last report was 112; average attendance 101. The report recommends that the examination of pupils for admission to the High School be held on Monday and Tuesday, June 22d and 23d.

On motion of Mr. McAuley the report was received and filed, and the recommendation as to the examination of teachers was adopted.

The report of the principal of the colored schools was read, and, on motion, received and filed.

Mr. Aiken, of Liberty, was, on motion, admitted as a member of the Board.

The report of the Secretary was read and approved,

The Secretary read a communication from the Board of the Tenth Ward, requesting the election of Mr. John Ochse as collector of school tax for said ward.

Mr. Anderson moved that Mr. Ochse be elected collector.

Mr, Eberle was also placed in nomination.

A vote was then taken, which resulted in the election of Mr. Ochse by a vote of eight to three.

On motion of Mr. Anderson Mr. William Wiley was elected collector of school taxes for Peebles township.

The report of the collector of the Sixth ward of lost taxes was presented, and on motion of Mr. McAuley was referred to the member of the Sixth ward for examination.

On motion David Aiken was elected collector of school taxes for Liberty township.

On motion of Mr. Harrison John Maguire was elected collector of school taxes for Pitt township.

Mr. Nobbs, of the Committee on Text Books submitted the following report:

Resolved, That Burtt's Grammar, Dean's series of Arithmetics, Mitchell's Intermediate and Primary Geographies, Goodrich's Pictorial History of the United States, Osgood's Readers and Speller, Robinson's new Elementary Algebra and Websters Dictionaries, be adopted as text books for ward schools during the ensuing year.

Resolved, That the principals of the several schools be authorized and recommended to form classes in Mitchell's Physical Geography.

Mr. Mays moved the adoption of the resolutions.

Considerable discussion ensued in relation to the report, as there appears to be considerable dissatisfaction with some of the books recommended.

A communication from Mr. Burtt in relation to his grammar was read, in which he states that the revised edition of his work was in the hands of the publisher and would soon be ready.

Mr. Craig hoped the report would be so amended as to relieve the rural districts from the necessity of changing the books now in use there, some of which were not named in the report.

Mr. Wilson moved the substitution of Clark's Grammar instead of Burtt's. The amendment was lost.

The resolutions were then adopted.

On motion of Mr. McAuley the Board then proceeded to levy a tax for the ensuing year.

After considerable discussion the tax was levied at eight mills by a unanimous vote.

The Secretary was ordered to secure a room for the City Superintendent.

On motion of Mr. Covert it was resolved that the teachers throughout the consolidated city shall receive the same salaries for the month of June they are now receiving, and that the same number shall be employed.

The Secretary was instructed to have blank reports prepared for the schools to report to the Central Board.

The following bills were presented and ordered to be paid.

Thomas B. Cook, $99.40; W. D. Kettenberg, $4; Hugh Boice, $19,50; F. C. Negley, for coal, $30.

On motion the meeting adjourned till 3 o'clock P. M. on the second Tuesday of June.

THE COURTS.

District Court—Judge Hampton.

In the case of the owners of the steam tug Mary Davage vs. A. J. Baker, previously reported, the jury found for plaintiff in the sum of $150.

The next case of A. Fulton, Son & Co. vs. The Middleton Oil Company. This was an action on a book account, for tools furnished the Company. On trial.

A motion for a new trial was made by defendant's counsel, in the case of Gearing vs. Millingar. The reasons given for the motion were that the verdict was against the charge of the Court; that the jury erred in not allowing for the defendant's expenses, and third that the verdict was oppressive.

In the case of Fulton & Co. vs. Middleton Oil Co., previously reported, the jury found for plaintiff, subject to opinion of Court on questions of law reserved.

The case of James McClurg vs. Jno. Peck was next taken up. This was an action for rent. Verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $263.50.

D. O'Neill vs. J. B. O'Neill. The plaintiff in this case loaned defendant in July, 1867, one thousand dollars to enable him to carry on some work in which he was then engaged. Verdict for plaintiff for $1,048.75.

G. W. Irwin et. al. vs. Allegheny Valley Railroad Company. This was an action in ejectment. Verdict for plaintiff, subject to opinion of the Court on points reserved.

Jno. W. Langfelt vs. Jacob Deitz. After the jury had been sworn the "narr" was was found to be defective, and the case was continued.

Michael Herron vs. the Citizens' Passenger Railway Company. This was an action to recover damages sustained by the death of plaintiff's son, by being run over by one of defendant's passenger cars, near Lawrenceville, in August, 1866. On trial.

Common Pleas—Judge Stowe.

In the case of Cameron vs. Brown, reported yesterday, the jury found for plaintiff, subject to opinion of the Court on reserved questions.

The case of D. Chestnut & Co. vs. J. M. Cooper & Co., was next taken up. Verdict for plaintiff for $360.49.

John Brannon vs. Lindsay, Owens & Co. This was an action to recover wages due. Verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $31.12.

The next case taken up was that of Henry Sproul vs. A. H. English and L. Osgood. On trial.

—Mr. George T. Thorne, a prominent member of the last Legislature, from Philadelphia, died suddenly on Monday.

MAY.

The sweet voluptuous May
Is here at length—through all the sunny hours,
Over the grateful earth to sprinkle flowers
In beautiful array;
And clothe with deeper verdure hill and plain,
And give the woods their glory back again.

No bird whose swelling throat
Quivers with song, or whose extended wing
Fans the soft air, but cheerlier doth sing,
While o'er the breezes float
Odors from the blossoms which the sun's caress,
Wakes to new life in field and wilderness.

The shimmering sunlight falls
On mount and valley with a softer sheen;
And lo! the orchards, newly clothed with green,
Lift up their coronals
Of flowers bright-hued, or, shaken by the breeze,
Rain their sweet largess from a thousand trees.

The green and tender maize
Pierces the moistened mold, and from the air
And earth and sunlight, gather strength to dare
The sultry Summer days:
And Spring's sweet promise of Autumnal fruit
Lives in the blade of every fragile shoot.

Out underneath the sky,
Where the free winds may toss their sunny curls,
Frolic glad companies of boys and girls
In sinless revelry;
While Nature smiles approvingly on their play,
And lambs and birds with them keep holiday.

—The Governor of Canada, Lord Monck, receives twelve times as much salary as the Governor of New York.

—Bismarck's health might be improved; at least his medical advisers think so and recommend Madeira or Egypt.

—Captain Mayne Reid is in New York again. The last time he was there he left to fight for the freedom of Hungary.

—The Tribune was about right when it said "Impeachment or Infamy." One or the other has to come to some one.

—The Momus of the modern stage is what a theatrical critic, who evidently has never seen Jefferson, calls John E. Owens.

—Bryant is to have a Ministrel hall in the Tammary buildings, other like amusements will take place in Tammary Hall.

—But 500 spectators are to be allowed room in the Crosby Opera House on the occasion of the meeting of the Republican Convention.

—The bodies of John Crothy and Milton and Walter Perkey, who were drowned on Saturday at Cincinnati, were recovered on Sunday morning.

—The Chicago Republican says that Chicago is the great moral centre of America. What a commentary is this upon the degraded state of the country.

—The town of South Danvers has decided to change its name to Peabody, because the millionaire of that name has done so much for it, and it wants him to do more.

—Mack says Butler has come out second best in every contest he has had with Brooks. If that is second best we should be contented to take that position all our lives.

—Dor is the name of a young and fashionable danseuse in London. Although a Dor, she has a very pretty gait, and the air, if not the wind, o' a thorough-bred pacer.

—The colored people of Georgia have become impressed with the idea that Liberia is the place for them, and hundreds of them are ready to go as soon as an opportunity offers.

—On dit, that Napoleon is going to revive the Schleswig-Holstein question for the purpose of having the popular feeling in Europe on his side in a war against Prussia.

—Commander John Pollard of the British Navy is dead. He was known as "The avenger of Nelson," because he was supposed to have killed the slayer of the great admiral.

—Louis Napoleon presented a copy of his "Life of Cæsar" to the city of New Orleans and it has gotten as far as Washington (where it is on exhibition) en-route for its destination.

—Josh Billings, it is said, puffs quack medicines, etc., in his letters. If impeachment doesn't kill P. V. Nasby he could probably make a little something for himself in that way.

—Weston says he will walk from New York to St. Paul for $5,000. Weston should have made the proposition some months ago. The world is no longer crazy on the subject of illiterate pedestrians.

—Referring to the statement that Daniel Drew has been elected President of the Corporators of the Drew Theological Seminary, the Boston Transcript observes: "This is a singular appointment for a man who controls a broad guage road which leads to destruction."

—There are five papers published in the Scandinavian language in the West and to their honor be it recorded that with one dishonorable exception they are radical Republican in their views.

—A Turin editor has personally collected and sent to the Pope three millions of francs and a deal of jewelry and trinkets. The Pope probably advertises in that man's paper. If he don't, he ought to.

—A correspondent of the London Times thinks he deserves credit for calling Rouher "the Richelieu of the second empire." We actually do not believe that a Washington correspondent would make a comparison quite so absurd and pointless.

—Pearls have been found in Australia. As everything goes just the other way in Australia, where Christmas comes in midsummer, and the glorious Fourth in the midst of winter, these pearls are probably black, and the diamonds opaque.

—The Viceroy of Egypt has more trouble managing his harem than in governing all the rest of Egypt. One or two of the fair inmates are so obstreperous that they were the cause of the recent severe indisposition of their vice-royal Lord and Master.

—It is said that bald persons can encourage and procure a heavy growth of hair by exposing their heads to the sun. Baldness was unknown, it is asserted until hats came into use. The exact style of the hat of the prophet Elisha is not mentioned in his biography.

—The City of Boston has not paid her public school teachers for more than three months, and the councils have made no appropriatton for that purpose. The teachers are about to secede in a body and leave the vaunted public schools of the Hub tutorless as well as penniless.

—Sothern, the original Lord Dundreary, is now said to be mad. His mania is peculiar, he thinks that he has eleven fingers and is constantly counting them to find the eleventh. Some time ago Mr. Sothern was thrown from his horse and this is the result.

—One ship and one bark laden with petroleum left Philadelphia last week for Antwerp, one bark and one ship for Bremen, one brig for Constadt, and one bark for Cork. One ship, fifteen barks, six brigs and one schooner are chartered and now loading at Philadelphia with petroleum for foreign ports.

—Although the Emperor Francis Joseph has a son of some ten years of age, the Boston Post says he is without any direct male heir to the throne. What the proud little imperial prince Rudolph would think of this denial of his rights, we shall probably never find out. The new child of the Emperor, just born in Pesth, is a princess.

—The Reading Dispatch goes into ecstacies over a wandering hand-organ. The Dispatch talks of operatic gems and answering strains in a manner that is quite refreshing. A few admiring subscribers ought to present the editor with one of those hurdy gurdy arrangements which goes without any man at the handle, so that he could be inspired often.

—A Georgia paper attempts to be very severe by formally thanking General Meade for not declaring Bullock elected before the polls were opened. It would have been still more in accordance with the usage of the Democratic press if the paper had boldly asserted that General Meade did proclaim Bullock elected before the polls were open. "Assertions are better than facts," is the common motto of such sheets.

—From the Boston Post we clip the following: "The Cincinnati Commercial (Republican) heads its Congressional report "Our National Sewer." This is very significant. Whenever any remarkable piece of vulgarism does occur in a Republican paper it is copied by the opposition and, Republican, put in brackets, because language of this kind is more common in Democratic papers, while it is fortunately rare enough in Republican journals to require especial notice when it is used.

—The New York anti-gambling society reported forty-three clerks to their employers last month, as addicted to play. If these be the duties, of this society, the quicker it is hissed down and abolished the better. Such societies would do well to suppress all gaming houses and gambling if possible, but a system of espionage, an amateur assumption of the disgraceful treachery of the spy is a role not to be tolerated in any country where letters de cachet and the Bastille are not in existence.

—The Hon. John Morrissey was in Cincinnati and received quite an ovation from numerous admiring porkopolitans. The Young Men's Christian Association sent him an invitation to attend a meeting, which he declined. Although John Morrissey was a pugilist and probably is a sharper and a gambler, he is said by all who have come in contact with him to be one of the most thoroughly generous men alive. The charitable institutions and the poor of Washington have been made recipients of his charities, and have blessed the day that brought him to the capital.

—The readers of Auerbach's delightful novel "On the Heights," will be reminded of their friend Walpurga in the following paragraph:

"The young married women in Hungary, the land of pretty women, have recently been highly excited about the important question which of them is to be the wet nurse of the expected baby of the Queen of Hungary, as the Empress of Austria is called in the land of Magyars. It had been given out that the handsomest and strongest young married woman was to suckle the royal and imperial baby, and over a hundred photographs were sent in to the doctor who was to choose the nurse. This modern Paris decided in favor of a beautiful young woman from Seregas, who has already arrived at Pesth, where she is the observed of all observers. She is to receive five thousand florins for her trouble, and a liberal pension for her whole life."

A CYLINDRICAL ingot of cast steel 56 inches in diameter, and weighing 40 tons, was deposited by Krupp in the French Exposition of 1847. In the English Exhibition of 1851, a cast steel ingot, weighing 2½ tons, manufactured by Krupp, caused more astonishment. The progress of steel manufacture in four years is strikingly exemplified by the two specimens mentioned above.

RIVER NEWS.

Both rivers continue to recede steadily at this point, with seven feet two inches in the Monongahela, and eight feet four inches in the Allegheny. A telegram from Oil City reports three feet in the Allegheny and falling. The weather yesterday was cloudy and unsettled, and in the evening there were indications of rain.

The Bayard, from Parkersburg, and Leonidas, from St. Louis, are the only arrivals. The Silver Cloud No. 2, for St. Louis left early in the day with an excellent trip, and the New State, for Cincinnati and Louisville, got off last night with a good trip.

The Grey Eagle, from Parkersburg, was due last night, and will leave again as usual to-day at noon.

The steamer Delaware, soon due at this port from Nashville, has the following freight for parties in this city: Spencer, McKay & Co., 44 empty ale bbls; J. Dickey & Co., 1605 sks corn; Rinehart & Co., 400 sks corn, 12 tons scrap iron, 100 ceder posts; H. C. Yeatman, 50 tons blooms; Clark & Co., 4 casks beeswax, 21 sks feathers, 100 tons hay.

The Ida Rees No. 2 arrived from Oil City yesterday, and, we presume, will leave again for that point this afternoon.

The Argosy, Capt. Vandergrift, with Mr. W. H. Scott in the office, is the regular packet for Cincinnati to-day, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind.

The J. N. McCullough is due here from Cincinnati to-day, and will return as usual to-morrow at noon.

The Kate Putnam, in command of Capt. Geo. W. Reed, is filling up rapidly for St. Louis, and will be the first boat out for that point.

The convention of steamboatmen, which was to have been held at Louisville on Monday, has been indefinitely postponed.

The towboat Coal City left for Cincinnati yesterday morning, with ninety thousand bushels of coal.

The Louisville Democrat, of Monday, says: The towboat Arrow left a tow of coal at West Louisville, which will be taken by the Dick Fulton to Natchez. The Arrow returned to Pittsburgh yesterday evening. She will take three barges loaded with barrels for Pittsburgh at Aurora.

We clip the following items from the Cincinnati Commercial, of Sunday: Jas. Kelsey, formerly wharf-master at Aurora, Indiana, who recently returned from Omaha, last Thursday night. On the following morning he was found dead in his bed. An empty vial was found on his person labeled strychnine, indicated that he had committed suicide. The J. N. McCullough returns to Pittsburgh this morning at 10 o'clock. She has all the freight she wants, including 400 bales of hay, 90 bales of cotton, her freight amounting to 300 tuns. The Melnotte, which departed for St. Louis last night, was full of freight, and has a fair trip of people. Pilots McClain and Puddy are at the wheel. The Robt. Burns goes out on a picnic excursion to-day. This is the first time the Burns has turned a wheel for over one year, having been laid up in the mouth of Licking river during that period.

A St. Louis telegram says: The Kate Robinson came in from Pittsburgh this morning, with 1,400 kegs of nails. In landing, she flanked against a barge laden with coal at the upper landing, belonging to Bowser & Murphy, knocking a hole in its side. It had 7 feet of coal, and filled with water over the top of the coal. The Simpson Horner went to its rescue, and with syphon pumps saved the barge, charging the Kate Robinson $150.

The St. Louis Republican, of Saturday, says: The towboat Mary Davage, from Pittsburgh, brought two barges well laden, a portion of the cargo amounting to nearly 300 tuns, reshipment to the Upper Mississippi, and will go forward by the Northern Line. The City of Pekin, from Peoria, had a moderate cargo of freight, but a full list of passengers, and had no less than 200 in the cabin when she left Peoria. The Lorena and Shamrock, from the Ohio, had, as usual, heavy cargoes of manufactured articles. The Wauanita, having been repaired by Fred. Sebastian, is again at the wharf to load for Pittsburgh.

Capt. Henderson, of Parkersburg, has bought a one-half interest in the little steamer T. J. Pickett, and takes command of her in the Parkersburg and Zanesville trade.

We clip the following from the St. Louis Dispatch, of Saturday: Business at the wharf for the past two or three days has presented a very sorrowful and "played out" appearance. The decline is general, and all branches of river commerce is depressed. Packets, that a week since presented a scene of life and activity, now resemble Phantom ships, with their decks deserted. They come and go for a matter of appearance sake, but their beggarly looking trips is in striking contrast to the life and bustle of times when trade is active. We know of several boats that have gone to the bone yard within the past week, and their owners have no hopes of a showing for at least three or four months. We heard an old boatman remark yesterday that before August was over the Sheriff would have a good stock of steamboats on hand. While we do not anticipate anything so disastrous as that, there is no denying the fact that the business on the rivers has about quil, and what is most discouraging is the entire absence of anything on which to base an improvement. For the next three months steamboat property will be poor stock; but in the fall there can hardly be a doubt that trade generally will revive in a manner surpassing any previous season for many years. We only hope the most sanguine expectations will be realized.

GOLD closed yesterday in New York at 139½.

IT IS understood that Gen. MOORHEAD, Chairman of the Sub-Committee which has been engaged on the new tariff-bill, will be able to report this week.

THE Borough of Lebanon (Pa.) follows the example of Uniontown, Kittanning, and other thriving towns of the Commonwealth, in selecting Republicans to its municipal offices.

THE Methodist General Conference have fully met the public confidence and the elevated wisdom and Christian purity of their deliberations, by sweeping away, in a decisive vote on Monday, all the barriers which excluded any portion of the human race from their perfect fellowship.

THERE WAS good reason for Monday's "scare." The treacherous defection of men who have hitherto been honored and trusted as leaders in the Republican party has come very near proving fatal to the popular hopes for the restoration of peace and order to the country. This treachery admits of but one explanation; nothing but an infamously corrupt sale of their votes, for the money which, as stated elsewhere, has been lavishly supplied for their purchase, can account for the infamy with which their names will be blackened in all coming time.

THE President is certain of six Radical votes, viz: Messrs. Fessenden, Grimes, Henderson, Fowler, Trumbull, and Van Winkle. Anthony and Sprague have given no intimation how they will vote. Anthony is claimed by the Conservatives.—Democratic Special of Monday.

Mr. JOHNSON knew his men before the day of judgment came, as the result thus far shows. It is interesting to know why he was able to count upon them so confidently and safely. The whiskey ring, to whom his retention for ten months in office is understood to be worth millions, boasts that they can explain the mystery.

THE RIOTOUS demonstrations at Ashton, reported by the Cable from England on Monday as "a serious anti-popery riot," show that Mr. D'ISRAELI has some reasons for his reliance upon the sectarian zeal of a large class of his countrymen. It has been evident that he intends to appeal from the opposition majority against him in Parliament to the religious bigotry of the mass of the English people, and that he bases all his hopes for a continuance in power upon the expectation that the assault upon the Irish Church establishment will be regarded by the people as a blow at Protestant supremacy. If he can arouse a general feeling in sympathy with that exhibited by the Ashton rioters, sustained as he also undoubtedly is by the Queen's tenderness of scruple touching the obligations of her coronation oath, he will play his game with reasonable prospects of success.

THE CRISIS—AND THE CRIMINALS.

The telegraph announces that the final vote on the Articles of Impeachment is postponed till Saturday next, in consequence of the illness of Mr. HOWARD, of Michigan. This unexpected pause in the proceedings gives opportunity for review and reflection.

For some days past the country has been filled with sinister reports to the effect that enough of the Republican Senators would vote with the Democrats to ensure the acquittal of the President. At first these rumors were generally supposed to be manufactured, out of nothing more substantial than suspicions or desires, by those "unclean birds" that swarm about the national capital, getting a precarious living by ministering to a depraved appetite for scandal and always eager to blacken a fair reputation for a recompense. But these stories have at length obtained such consistency, and are apparently corroborated by so many consentient circumstances that they cannot be wholly disregarded by the most unsuspicious and charitable.

The Republican members of the two Houses of Congress did not act hastily in resolving to impeach and depose the President. For many consecutive months the measure was under advisement. There was hesitation and delay. A strong and creditable disposition was evinced to avoid the extreme measure, if possible. Even after the loyal masses of the country were fully satisfied that the President deserved deposition; by reason of his encroachments upon the prerogatives of the co-ordinate departments of the government; by his usurpations of authority denied to him by the Constitution and carefully lodged elsewhere; and by his mischievous opposition to a reconstruction of the Union on a basis accordant with order, liberty, repose, and the just rights of all classes of citizens; Congress reluctated against its manifest duty, because of its essential gravity. With abundant facts developed through the investigations of the Judiciary Committee to make conviction inevitable upon a fair trial, both Houses refused to proceed. They preferred to forbear, if possible, until the close of Mr. JOHNSON'S term, which was not far off, rather than to incur the risk of deranging the affairs of commercial circles, and of superinducing complications of which the final consequences could not be calculated and provided against. Moreover, the President himself volunteered explanations that were plausible and assurances that were commendable, and these served to allay resentments and to quiet apprehensions.

No sooner had Congress determined to drop impeachment, and the people had responded with a feeling of relief akin to satisfaction, than the President was seized with a fresh frenzy. In defiance of the action of the Senate in restoring Mr. STANTON to the War Office, he attempted again to put him out. This bold measure exasperated Congress, and it resolved to forbear no longer.

Technical quibbling will not avail now to excuse or justify Republican members of the Senate in voting to acquit the President. It is useless to affirm that these proceedings were forced upon them by the Radical leaders of the House of Representatives. When the business of impeachment was actually entered upon the Republican members of the Senate were in complete accord with the Republican members of the House. It matters not what appearances of indifference or impartiality were assumed from a supposed sense of the decencies of the occasion and of their position. The measure was a party one, finding its defense in the terms of the Constitution and in facts proved and known of all men of ordinary intelligence. Neither will it do for Republican Senators to plead that in sitting as members of the Court of Impeachment they were under superior obligations to deal fairly and truly than attached to them in the execution of their common functions. In both instances they were bound by solemn oaths and by whatever sentiments of honor swell their bosoms. It was precisely as incumbent on them to judge justly of the President and his doings before the articles of impeachment were laid cefore them, as afterwards. Equally futile is it for Republican Senators to say the Managers on the part of the House failed to make out their case. The facts were in possession of each Senator and the whole country before the first witness was put upon the stand or the first official document offered in evidence.

The Office-Tenure Act was passed over the President's Veto by the Constitutional majority of two-thirds in each House. The President, notwithstanding its provisions, and in vacation of the Senate, removed Mr. STANTON. Upon the re-assembling of the Senate the President presented to that body, in a formal manner, the reasons by which he was actuated. The Senate took those reasons, which involved a presentation of his constitutional right of appointment and removal, and his construction of the Office-Tenure Bill, into due consideration. Its decision, restoring Mr. STANTON to office, involved, necessarily, an interpretation of the Office-Tenure Law. Such interpretation was neither unwarranted nor unusual. The right of Congress, through one or both of its branches, as the case may be, to declare the meaning of any law cannot be seriously combatted.

How will Senators who voted that the President removed Mr. STANTON without authority excuse themselves, if they shall vote to acquit him on the ground that he did not exceed his lawful powers? They may hope to evade the inferences which seem unavoidable from such inconsistency, but they will hope in vain. Either their former votes were given in ignorance, or in passion, or unjustifiable partisanship, or as for the price of purchase, or the votes they are about to give will be so given.

Some time ago the New York World used this extraordinary language:

> "Let the men of wealth in this city, without regard to party, assemble at the Exchange, or in the Cooper Institute and subscribe a sufficient sum, ten million dollars, if need be, to buy a favorable verdict. There are fourteen Radical Senators, whose terms of office expire in 1869. Beyond that time they are sure of no political position; so far as they know now, they are sure of no 'paying place.' Surely as many as eight of these men would far rather be sure of a million cash in hand than to wait for the uncertainty of a $5,000 office by and by. Let us buy their votes at their own price; when we consider the commercial and pecuniary interests at stake in this city alone, ten millions now is a mere trifle in comparison. Let us buy the verdict which is so vital to the interests of this city."

What is now foreshadowed by the telegraphic reports seems to be a realization of this project. Much is said of the eminent social positions and characters of Senators. That is all well enough, in the appropriate place. But Senators must and will be judged, now and hereafter, not by their professions or standing, but by what they do and the circumstances under which they act. Not unfrequently men confessedly eminent, presume upon their reputations to do things which men open to suspicion, would not dare to venture upon. Instances are not wanting in the history of the government of this country, and of other countries, in which public men, claiming to be the champions of "great moral ideas," have enriched themselves and their followers by the most scandalous practices, and at the expense of the taxpayers. It is not probable that this class will become extinct with the generation of men now living.

"Every man has his price," was the favorite max im of a man perfectly familiar with the foibles, vices and crimes of Statesmen. He understood that while a thousand dollars would not deflect a certain class of men from the line of recitude, a hundred thousand dollars might. The World had not so poor an opinion of the Republican Senators as to suppose that, in this high case, any one of them could be "bought with a song." But it judged—no matter whether by former experience, or by general estimate—that they could be bought.

Of this Senators may be certain, that if they shall so vote on next Saturday, or whenever the roll shall be called in this case, as to contradict their former votes on topics directly involved in this great issue, no pretense of judicial impartiality and no weight of personal character, will screen them from condemnation either now or in the final award of history.

We do not care what reasons Senators who shall stultify themselves may assign for their votes. They will not be judged by the reasons they give, but by the probabilities of the case. Men who do base deeds always have an abundance of excuses, which seem to satisfy themselves, but are satisfactory to none besides. It is universally conceded that some Senators are liable to be swayed by political ambition, and others by personal animosities. Is it presumptuous to fear or suspect that Senators who would yield to inducements of these sorts, would accept a bribe in gold or greenbacks?

There is another and a lower aspect of this case, not altogether unworthy of notice even in this connection. For Republican Senators who have voted against the President heretofore on all the questions involved in the trial, to vote for his acquittal, is simply to stultify themselves. It is to confess in the most emphatic manner that they had a quarrel with the President, denounced him in the most unsparing language, labored to hedge him about by public opinion and by statutory provisions, sought to blast his fame and make him odious for all time, and yet that he was completely in the right and they totally in the wrong; he acting so clearly within the powers conferred on him by the organic law as to be undeserving of censure, and they endeavoring to hamper and baffle him, in order to gratify party ambition or personal animosity. With this confession virtually on their lips, how do Senators expect to meet constituencies who cannot fail to feel outraged to the last degree, and will enforce retribution? How will Senators who may occupy this predicament defend either themselves or the Republican party before the grand inquest of the people, which will be held next autumn, and which they cannot escape?

ERIE.

The casual visitor at Erie will be struck with three things, if he has time to stay there but a day. First, its safe and magnificent harbor; second, its advantages as a manufacturing site; and third, the slight soreness of its inhabitants at the little that is known of the place by the great mass of the people of Pennsylvania.

Looked at in the light of its harbor alone, Erie has the most advantageous position of any city on the lakes. Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago and Milwaukee are situated on the open lake, without adequate protection to shipping in times of storm and tempest, and Detroit has nothing for a harbor but the banks of the river which connects lake Erie with the lake above it; but the harbor of Erie is land-locked and thoroughly sheltered from the fierce winds of the lakes. This is, of itself, an advantage of the highest order, and the wonder is that, with this in its favor, it has derived so little assistance from it.

Besides this, its railway connections with Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and the oil regions, its canal to the Ohio, and its accessibility to the rich coal fields of the Shenango Valley, give it every desirable facility for reaching the markets, east, west and south, and should contribute to render it one of the most active shipping ports on the lakes.

Its position near to the coal fields, on the one side, and the ease with which it can reach the sources of supply for iron ore, on the other, mark it as a natural site for the manufacture of iron. Yet it has, we believe, but one iron mill, and that has been but lately put in operation. It is not, of course, for Pittsburgh to be pointing out manufacturing sites elsewhere; but the day is not far distant when Erie will depend as much upon its manufacturing industry as upon its shipping.

The slight soreness of its citizens at the seeming neglect of the place by other parts of the State, to which we have adverted, grows out of its position in the extreme northwestern corner of the commonwealth. It has not been upon the main lines of travel used by the people of the State; and the start in commercial activity gained by its lake rivals has caused it to be overlooked.

The time will come, we trust, when Pennsylvanians will be proud of the only harbor on the lakes, and when it will attract attention, also, as one of the pleasantest of summer résorts. Already the liberal use of capital by one or two enterprising citizens has caused a noticeable improvement in its commerce; and every day should add to that improvement, and bring ERIE up to the prominence and importance it richly deserves.

Those who have never visited Erie will find their account in doing so, as soon as opportunity offers. It is a pleasant, flourishing, busy, growing place, with good society, and a people solicitous for the recognition of their city and its natural advantages. The Pennsylvanian who has never seen the lake city of his commonwealth labors under a defect in knowledge he cannot too soon remove.

EXTENSIVE preparations are in progress for changing the gauge of the Ohio and Mississippi Railway from Cincinnati to St. Louis. As soon as an adequate portion of the equipment has been adapted to the narrower track, the work will begin of drawing in the rails, and trains will be entirely suspended only four days, in which time it is estimated the gigantic job can be completed along the whole line. After the change, passengers can be transported from New York to the other side of the Rocky Mountains without change of cars. The tendency to an uniformity of guage in the general railway system is gradually effecting the reduction of the broad tracks throughout the West. The number of roads of this character has never borne other than a small proportion to those of lesser width, and is found to produce such an isolation from the more general system, as to be much to the disadvantage of their stockholders. It is also denied that the greater width of the equippage on broad-guage roads affords carriage-capacity sufficiently increased to compensate for the greater cost, weight and atmospheric resistance.

SEVERAL MONTHS ago we called attention to some objectionable features of the law taxing moneys at interest. One was, that by making mortgages, judgments and moneys due upon articles for the sale of real estate liable to taxation, the same property was clearly taxed twice, as there was no possible way for the land itself to escape. The Legislature, during the last session, took up the matter, and passed a law relieving securities of those denominations, and made after the passage of the act, from taxation except for State purposes, and relieving all such securities, after the first of next December, in like manner. This concedes that the taxation is wrong in principle, but only makes half amends. If these securities ought not to be taxed for local purposes, they ought not to be taxed for State purposes. The financial condition of the Commonwealth is not so uncomfortable as to compel even this injustice. Doubly taxing certain descriptions of property in this way, is a sort of qualified robbery, which reacts injuriously upon all citizens who desire to obtain credit, and would be benefited by so doing.

THE CHICAGO PLATFORM.

A Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial amuses himself with the subjoined statements:

As to the platform likely to be adopted at Chicago, I can say this much: that I have seen a draft of what I was assured had received General Grant's approval, and was certain to be the platform of the convention. It was in the hands of a gentleman whom I know to be an intimate friend of Grant, and whom I know also to have come to Washington from the West and been repeatedly closeted with Grant while here, for the express purpose of ascertaining the General's views of this subject. It may interest the "earnest" wing of the Republican party to know that the person to whom I refer was a Democrat throughout the war, and has never voted a Republican ticket, or even what was called, during the war, a "Union" ticket, in his life. I met him not long since returning from General Grant's house. He talked about the political prospects, and especially about the platform to be adopted at Chicago. He produced from his pocket a closely written page of foolscap, which he said was "Grant's platform," and added that Grant was in a condition to dictate to the party, and not the party to him, and that he would run upon no other platform than the one he then allowed me to read. I read it over from first to last. My friend asked me how I thought it would suit the convention. I told him it was remarkable chiefly for the skill with which it evaded the great issues of the campaign—reconstruction, negro suffrage, equal taxation and the mode of paying the national debt. From first to last there was not a line in favor of the Congressional policy of reconstruction; not a single indorsement of the Fortieth Congress, or any of its measures; and no hint as to a financial policy. The whereas was twice as long as the resolved. There were some glittering words about the late war for the Union, a vague hint at equal rights, without any special application, and a glittering generality in favor of maintaining the public credit. It meant everything, or nothing, just as you liked to interpret it. I could see nothing in it that the Democratic convention might not adopt in July, without a dissenting vote and, at the same time, there was nothing that the strongest Republican could object to as squinting toward Conservatism. It reminded me of the tariff plank of the Polk platform—in which the Democracy resolved themselves in favor of a "judicious tariff." In South Carolina this was declared to mean free trade, or the next thing to it—revenue tariff. In Pennsylvania, where the iron manufacturers were greedy and avaricious, it was translated into a pledge for a tariff of one hundred per cent. You paid your money and you took your choice. On reading the platform carefully I assured my friend that I did not believe it would suit the convention—to which he responded by repeating the assertion that Grant must be nominated on his own terms, or not at all. "There's enough in that," said he, "to suit any reasonable man. Those who don't like it may travel further and fare worse. For every Radical who bolts the nomination because it is too conservative, we'll get ten Democrats to join us." He wouldn't listen to any suggestion, such as that the Fortieth Congress would have to be indorsed in all its acts, including impeachment, reconstruction, and the legislation in regard to the Supreme Court; or that something would have to be said as to how the national debt must be paid. He insisted on the latter point, that the mere declaration in favor of maintaining the public credit would successfully bridge the chasm between the greenbackers of the West and the yellow backers of the East.

Strange to say this meek and lowly platform meets the indorsement, real or feigned, of a great many of the most violent Radicals in the Senate and House; and though there may be some grumbling and consequent secession because of it at Chicago, still there is little doubt that it will be adopted at Chicago. Many of the most rampant impeachers are willing to nominate General Grant without a platform, having unbounded confidence, as they say, in his firm Republicanism.

VALLANDIGHAM, does not like the arrangements for placing a Democratic candidate for President in the field. He says of them, in his Ledger:—

Sitting in New York, the Convention will be manipulated in all things by 'rings,' committees and small caucuses. The political schemers, bargainers and contrivers will have it all their own way. Everything will be duly arranged beforehand, and no delegate not in the secret will have the slightest chance perhaps even to be heard in opposition; and the man agreed upon finally by the high-contracting and managing parties will be the nominee of the Convention.

THE IMPEACHMENT VERDICT BY TELEGRAPH.—The Western Union Telegraph Company has arranged to transmit direct from its office in the Senate gallery to all points in the United States and Canada reached by its lines, and through the Atlantic and Cuba cables to Europe and the West Indies, the verdict of the Senate on the articles of impeachment, simultaneously with its announcement in the Senate Chamber. These dispatches are to be bulletined at their offices and furnished the press free of charge.

MR. EDITOR: The Philadelphia North American and United States Gazette is a great paper. Last February it re-published from the Paris Continental Gazette a letter from Gen. Washington to Count de Rochamebeau, dated Newburgh, December 14th, 1782, which it stated had "never been published." Through your columns I corrected this and referred the editor to Spark's Washington Vol. VII. page 386 where the letter can be found. This was not enough to put the editor on his guard, so he has been caught again. On the 8th instant he copied from the Trenton, N. J., Gazette a letter from Gen. Washington to Dr. Franklin, dated Bergen county, N. J., October 9, 1780, which it states "has never before been published." On referring to Spark's Washington Vol. VII. page 242 you will see the letter verbatim; in Sparks, it is dated October 11th. I. C.

ALLEGHENY, May 11th, 1868.

BEWARE

Of that remorseless and insidious destroyer of the human race.

CONSUMPTION.

Check and conquer its advances, lest you fall the victim. When attacked with any of its preliminary symptoms, no matter how slight, be on your guard and promptly use the remedy ere too late.

DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP

Is an old, well tried, certain and standard remedy for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Difficulty of Breathing, Pain or Oppression in the Chest or Lungs, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs. Its sure and certain efficacy has been fully tested and endorsed for many years by numbers of well-known citizens in our midst, and their certificates are on record. Have you a cough which has gradually increased from a slight one to one of permanent standing? Lose no time, but procure a bottle of DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP, which will surely relieve you of the dangerous premonitory symptoms and effect a permanent cure. Do you spend miserable days and long sleepless nights of torture and pain from attacks of Asthma or Difficulty of Breathing? Dr. SARGENT'S Cough Syrup will act promptly, relieve you, and gradually restore you to your freedom of pain, and sound, pleasant sleep. Are your lungs sore and irritated, indicating inflammation? This is one of the most dangerous symptoms, and should be promptly removed. Dr. SARGENT'S Cough Syrup will heal the soreness, allay the inflammation, and restore the lungs to their prestine health and vigor. This Cough Syrup is pleasant and agreeable to take, while powerful and sure in its action. For sale by all Druggists in the country.

AVOID POISON.

Invalid reader, do you know what nine-tenths of the bitter compounds you are solicited by the proprietors to accept as universal panaceas are composed of? Give heed for a moment. They are manufactured from unpurified alcohol, containing a considerable portion of fusil oil—a poison almost as deadly as prussic acid. The basis of the regular tinctures of the Materia Medica is the same. No amount of "herbal extracts" can overcome the bad tendency of this pernicious element. The essence of sound Rye, thoroughly rectified, is the only stimulant which can be safely used as a component of a tonic, alterative and anti-bilious medicine, and HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is the only medicinal preparation in the world in which this article is used as an ingredient. Hence the extraordinary effects of this great specific. It gives strength without producing excitement. No other tonic does this. All the ordinary Bitters flush the face and affect the brain. HOSTETTER'S BITTERS diffuses an agreeable calm through the nervous system, promotes digestion and produces sleep. No other tonic so quickly revives the exhausted physical energies, restores the appetite and removes the gloom and depression which always accompanies weakness of the bodily powers. It purges from the system the morbid humors which retard its natural functions, and which bring paleness to the cheek and suffering to the brow. It banishes those clogs upon pleasure, restores the system to high health, and necessarily proves a valuable adjunct to the digestive organs. A trial is all that is needed to establish it in the confidence of the skeptic.

ANOTHER CURE OF DEAFNESS.

I lost my hearing during the last year. Part of the time I was totally deaf. In April of this year I was induced, from an advertisement, to make application to DR. KEYSER, 120 Penn street, Pittsburgh. After having tried various medicines from doctors, without any benefit, I have been under Dr. Keyser's treatment now for nearly two months, and am entirely restored to my hearing, so that I can hear a pin drop. JOHN SCANLAN,
Coal Bluffs, Washington Co., Pa.

ANOTHER CURE.

A man called to-day at Dr. Keyser's office to inform him of a great cure made by his LUNG CURE, or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE. Hist these cures are made with the Doctor's preparations, he desires it to be distinctly understood that most of his great cures are made in accordance with the established laws that govern the science of medicine, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty-five years. Last week he was also in receipt of a letter from a clergyman in the State of Ohio, detailing another most wonderful cure.

DR. KEYSER'S RESIDENT CONSULTING OFFICE FOR LUNG EXAMINATIONS AND TREATMENT OF CHRONIC DISEASES, No. 120 PENN STREET, FROM 9 A. M. UNTIL 3 P. M.

A NEW YORK letter to the Boston Post (Dem.) thus refers to the July Convention and the candidates:

An earlier day might be advantageous to Mr. Pendleton, but Mr. Pendleton goes for greenbacks and Mr. Belmont does not. Pendleton, I may remark, is not in favor with prominent Democrats here. Most of these gentlemen would rather let the bond question alone, and Mr. Pendleton seems to have a penchant for agitating it. Therefore, he is not in favor with them. They would prefer either Horatio Seymour or Gen. Hancock, and you may be sure that these two names will be strongly urged on the Convention—provided Seymour will allow his name to be used at all. I have noticed, however, that Gov. Seymour is not so popular with the masses as he used to be. He is rather too conservative for them. They like a man with plenty of vim in him, and they think Seymour lacks this. Still, if he gets the nomination, I predict for him as large a vote as any other candidate could get. It would not be very wise to forecast the nomination, but there is hardly a doubt that it will lie between Pendleton, Seymour and Hancock. If Pendleton gets it, I think a good many Democrats in this part of the country will stay at home on election day.

FOR SALE.

A RIVER BOTTOM FARM OF 76 ACRES, 19 miles from the city, in Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Pa., on the Youghiogheny river, one-half mile from Elrod's Station, on the Connellsville railroad; near churches, schools, stores, &c., in the flourishing villages of Elston and Green Oak. The improvements are a two-story brick house of six rooms, hall and cellar, a good frame bank barn with stabling underneath, and other outbuildings; a well of good standing water at the door, and several standing springs of water on the farm, and an orchard of 700 trees of selected fruits of apples, cherries, pears, peaches, quinces and grapes. This property being located near the line of the railroad, within one hour's ride of the city, makes it very desirable for gardening or a dairy farm; it is also a good and beautiful location for country homes near the city, lying immediately on the river, on the opposite side from the railroad. The West Newton Accommodation and other trains on the railroad afford certain and frequent opportunities of daily communication to and from this city. Will be sold as a whole or in lots of one acre or more, to suit purchasers.

Also, A FARM OF 173 ACRES, situated in St. Clair township, Westmoreland county, Pa., near the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Houston Station. The improvements are a two-story frame house, with six rooms and good cellar, a frame bank barn 40 by 60 feet, and other outbuildings. There is on the place a young apple and peach orchard; 120 acres cleared land, divided into fields of convenient size, a large portion of which are well set in clover and timothy; the residue of said tract covered with good timber. It is well watered and underlaid with coal and limestone, and is convenient to churches, schools, stores, mills and blacksmith shops. A real good bargain is offered in this excellent farm; and with it will be sold all the personal property on the premises, consisting of horses, cows, stock cattle, hogs and poultry, harness, gears, wagon, plows, farming implements and household and kitchen furniture. Together will be sold very low and on easy terms, to a responsible purchaser.

Also, a desirable and very fertile Tract of Land of 158 ACRES AND 25 PERCHES, in Elizabeth Tp., Allegheny county, Pa., on the line of the Hempfield railroad, and one and one-half miles from the Connellsville railroad at Suter's Station. On this farm are 40 acres of superior white oak timber, which alone is now worth one-half the price asked for the whole tract. The improvements are a log house, frame barn, good fencing, and an apple orchard of good fruit. It is well watered and underlaid with limestone and flag stone of a superior quality, with stone coal for the use of the farm.

Also, The best FARM in Fairfield township, Westmoreland county, Pa., of 250 ACRES, about six miles south of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad at Bolivar Station. The improvements are two large hewed log dwellings; one of the largest and best frame barns in the township; two apple orchards, in good bearing condition; corn crib, wagon-shed and other outbuildings. The whole farm is under a high state of cultivation; fencing all in first rate order, and the land of the best quality of limestone soil, about 200 acres of which is cleared and the residue of the tract in good timber, such as white oak, rock oak, hickory, walnut and beech. This property will be sold very cheap and on good terms, as the owner wishes to engage in other business. For particulars enquire of

SECURITY AND COMFORT FOR THE TRAVELING COMMUNITY.

J. B. HARRIS' SAFETY FIRE JACKET,

Car Heater and Moderator,

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, May 12, 1868.

The probability of the President's acquittal gave rise to a very bearish feeling in the gold market, whilst it must be conceded that neither acquittal nor conviction would change our commercial relations to foreign countries. On the favorable trade balance the value of the precious metal in relation to paper circulation must depend. A present there is nothing unfavorable to our foreign balance; the imports have decreased, a limited demand for flour and grain has set in, and the increased value of cotton and petroleum may be said to be a fair offset for our imports of luxuries. The heavy shipments of specie for the past week have been hastened on for fear a rise in the premium of gold might take place, but a reverse in the quotations, the demand for shipment has ceased, and exchange may be offered again below the gold shipping point. A very important item in our foreign trade balance is the unusual large amounts of coin carried out by pleasure seekers, which is much larger this season, despite the depression in trade, than most people imagine. Those who go strictly for pleasure, and, returns, perhaps have not increased in numbers, but a considerable element of the productive classes take their savings out, and remain abroad until trade and commerce is more flourishing.

In government bonds there is but little doing, although the money market is easy, people will not invest at present high quotations, and when the foreign demand for bonds ceases, quotations are likely to be lowered.

In stocks but little is doing, the railroad shares are unsettled, and express stocks are lower; the practice of watering express shares has brought these securities in discredit among the public.

Money is easy, and on first-class names can be had from 8 to 10 per cent.

Closing quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz, were as follows:

Gold, 139¾; 1881 bonds, 113⅞; 1862 5-20s, 108⅝; 1864 do, 106⅜; 1865 do, 107⅛; Consols, 109¾; 10-40s, 103¼; 7-30s, 107⅜.

Railroads—Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 83; Fort Wayne, 105¾; North Western, common 66¼; North Western—preferred, 76½; New York Central, 127¼; Erie, 68⅜; Old Southern, 82¾; Ohio & Mississippi, 31; Merchants Union Express, 31½; Western Union Telegraph, 38¾. Mining Shares—Corydon, 30; Quartz Hill, 93; Quicksilver, 29¾.

—The Springfield (Mass.) Republican mentions the following individual failures connected with the failure of the Florence Mill at Rockville: George Kellogg, $160,000; Lebbeus Bissel, endorser, $100,000; George Kellogg, Jr., the company's agent, about $20,000; Deacon J. J. Robinson, $25,000; besides many creditors, one of whom, Austin Dunham, of Hartford, had a claim of $140,000, for which he got $100,000 cash and the balance in stock. All this started from the failure of Nelson Kingsbury, of Hartford, whose partner, Edward Kellogg, borrowed $50,000 of his father, George Kellogg, but a few days before the event. The Rose silk mill went down in the same crash. E. K. Rose had $40,000 in this concern, and some thirty-five stockholders had amounts varying from $3,000 to $12,000, among them several clergymen. George Talcott, of Rockville, lent Rose $10,000, Dr. Lewis $12,500, and others were similarly caught.

PITTSBURGH WOOL MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, May 11, 1868.

The market is quiet awaiting the clipping season. In some of the Northern counties we hear of considerable lots of Wool clipped; in other sections the washing of the Sheep will not take place for some time until the weather is more pleasant and the water warmer. The attention of wool-growers having been repeatedly called of late to the necessity of better cleansing and more carefully preparing their wools for market, we hope to see the coming clip of Wool in much better condition than usual. Unless wool-growers take the pains and put their Wool in good condition they will be compelled to make an abatement, as compared with clean well-washed Wool, or have their Wool left on their hands. Manufacturers and dealers are disposed to be more careful in the agents they employ to purchase Wool, and will not allow any agent to buy a clip of Wool on the representation of the seller. It has been the custom too long tolerated for the wool-grower to pile up his fleeces in some corner of his barn, or the bin of a granary with the best fleeces in the front, and the heavy and unwashed fleeces covered up and hid from view. The buyer is told that the front is a fair sample of the lot, and while the seller may think this is so, yet, to the careful buyer, it is found that these representations are not correct. No good and careful buyer will allow himself to be imposed on in this way; he must see the whole lot of Wool, if necessary, examine every fleece, both as to quality and condition, and then he is prepared to buy every lot of Wool on its respective merits—paying the highest price for the clean well-washed Wool, and making the proper discount on the heavy, greasy, and badly washed Wool. It is yet too soon to give any idea of the prices or prospects for next clip. In the course of a few weeks the clip will be ready for market, and prices will be better determined. Prices at present range from 35 to 50c, according to quality and condition.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, May 11, 1868.

The general markets are steady and moderately active, and while there is a fair local demand for all of the leading commodities, there is less excitement than there was a week ago, and while prices generally are well sustained, there are no changes worthy of special notice.

APPLES—Quiet but firm, and the supply is almost exhausted. We continue to quote at $6 to $7 per bbl, as to quality.

POTATOES—Peach Blows are in good demand at $1,50, and even at $1,55, and some holders are now asking $1,60. Jersey Sweets are scarce and held at $8,50 to $9 per barrel.

BUTTER—Prime to choice fresh Roll is selling at 35 to 38c per pound, and supply light.

EGGS—In good supply, but under the influence of increased arrivrls, prices are drooping; we now quote at 19 to 20c.

HOMINY—Is dull and unchanged; small sales in store at $6 to $6,25 per bbl.

GRAIN—No sales of Wheat reported. We continue to quote at $2,60 for No. 1 Spring; $2,70 to $2,75 for Red Winter, and 5 to 8c higher for White. Oats firm and in limited supply; sales on wharf at 80 to 82c, and in store at 83 to 85c. Sale of 275 bushs Corn on wharf at $1,11. Rye quiet and unchanged at $2 to $2,10. No movement in Barley.

SEEDS—The last sale of Flaxseed reported was at $2,50. No demand whatever for Clover or Timothy Seeds.

HAY—Sale of 54 bales prime loose pressed Hay on wharf at $25, an advance. Wagon Hay is selling at scales at $24 to $27,00.

DRIED FRUIT—Peaches scarce and firm at 13½ to 14c, for prime halves. Apples in good supply but steady at 7 to 7½c.

MILL FEED—Sales on wharf at $1,70 for Bran, and $2,15 to $2,20 for Middlings.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is steady with regular jobbing sales at 14½ to 14¾c for Shoulders; 17 to 19c for Ribbed and Clear Sides; and 20 to 21c for Plain and Canvassed Sugar Cured Hams. Lard, 20c in tierces, and 21c in kegs. Mess Pork, $30 to $30,50.

LARD OIL—Is firm at former quotations, $1,25 for No. 2, and $1,55 for No. 1.

FLOUR—The market is steady with a fair local demand, and prices, although unchanged, are firm and well sustained. We continue to quote at $11 to $11,75 for Spring Wheat; $12 to $12,75 for Winter Wheat, and $14 to $16 for fancy brands. Rye Flour, $10 to $10,25.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, May 12, 1868.

CRUDE—The market was in a very excited and unsettled condition to-day, and at no time in the history of the trade do we remember of seeing as much feeling manifested between opposing elements, "bulls and bears," and at this writing it is very difficult to determine which side is in the ascendancy, if either. The sales were not near as large, in the aggregate, as on Monday, though prices, generally, ruled higher, and, so far as we could discern, the offerings, that is at the advance, were fully up to the demand. We can report sales of 3,000 bbls to be delivered on first water at 12c; 1,000, spot, at 11½c; 1,000 do at 12c, and 2,400 at 12c; 3,000—1,000 each for July, August and September, 12½c, and 120 bbls, spot, 11¾c, bbls returned. The market although less excited, apparently, closed steady, and, so far as we could learn, there was no disposition manifested to make concessions. An Oil City telegram quotes at $4,15 to $4,25 at that point, and $3,80 to $4 on creek.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil was even more excited and unsettled than the Crude market, and the feeling between the opposing cliques was even, if such a thing were possible, more manifest. There was but comparatively little done, nor is it likely that business will improve much until it has first been ascertained whether the parties who inaugurated the present movement have power and influence enough to establish a "corner." Early in the day there was a sale for May at 34c, but in the afternoon, 33c was the best offer that could be obtained. June and July, 500 each, sold at 30½c, early in the day; in the afternoon, it is asserted, that 31½c was offered and refused for the same delivery. At four p. m. we saw a telegram from Philadelphia, offering to sell June at 30½c, and the same dispatch stated that August could be sold at 31c. The above is sufficient to show any one at all conversant with the trade the unstable, and we might say, unsatisfactory condition of the trade, and, as we have already stated, the market is not likely to settle down until the excitement now prevailing between the "bulls" and "bears" subsides somewhat.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

MASONIC BIOGRAPHY AND DICTIONARY. Comprising the History of Ancient Masonry, Antiquity of Masonry, written and unwritten law, &c. Compiled by Augustus Row, K. T. Published by J. B. Lippincott, & Co., Philadelphia.

Much valuable information is embodied in this work, not only to members of the craft, but to the uninitiated. Publicity of books of this kind ouhgt to make Masonry less unpopular; it also becomes a valuable auxilliary to the order. Here we have the derivation and definition of Masonic terms, biographies of eminent Masons, statistics, and a list of all the lodges in the United States. The aim of the author is to lead persons to secure a correct understanding of the truths of Freemasonry in the light of Christianity. The work is prepared with much care and contains much interesting matter to the general reader.

JOHN MILTON AND HIS TIMES. An historical novel. By Max. Ring. Translated from the German by F. Jordan. Complete in one volume. Illustrated. New York: D. Appleton & Co. For sale by Henry Miner. Pittsburgh.

This romance, like the Muchlback series, is intensely enteresting, embodying great historial events, and also the acts of persons who have occupied prominent places in the world's history, the whole woven in the form of a romance, which renders the work charmingly fascinating. The times of the immortal poet are fraught with interest, and full of interesting incidents.

MAN'S ORIGIN AND DESTINY. Sketched from the Platform of the Sciences in a Course of Lectures delivered before the Lowell Institute in Boston, in the winter of 1865-6. By J. P. Lesley, member of the National Academy of the United States, Secretary of the American Philisophical Society. Published by J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia.

The author of these lectures simply has sketched the present bearings of science of the vexed question of the origin and earliest history of man. Nothing is closely reasoned out. Much being left to the logical instinct. The lectures indicate pretty thorough research, and compass a vast fund of information, fortified with argument and historical illustrations. These lectures embrace in part the classification of the sciences, the geological antiquity of man, the dignity of mankind, unity of mankind, early social life of man, language a test of race, origin of architecture, &c.

DORA. By Julia Kavanaugh, author of "Nathalie," Adele," &c. Illustrated by Gaston Fay. Three volumes complete in one. Published by D. Appleton & Co., New York. For sale by Henry Miner, Pittsburgh.

The author is well known and her previous writings have been well received by the public. Dora is regarded by the author's friends as a literary triumph. It presents society in its various phases and the characters are wrought out with fidelity, and also shows her power in discription. Running through the story we have domestic life portrayed with great vividness. The style of the work is elevated, and above the standard of many of the novels of the day.

A SISTER'S BYE-HOURS. By Jean Ingelow. Published by Roberts Brothers, Boston.

These stories, seven in number, are just what might be expected from this graceful writer. They are piquant and racy, and are poetic-prose, and woven together with charming unity. For young folks they are just the thing to begnile time, and are also calculated to teach them elevated sentiments. This volume is uniform with "Studies for Stories," and "Stories told to a Child."

PENDERGAST'S MASTERY SERIES. Published by D. Appleton & Co. For sale by Henry Miner, Pittsburgh.

This series is a new, simple and practical method of studying foreign languages. The plan is to imitate nature, to learn languages as children do, acquiring the language first and the grammar afterwards. Sentences, varied in form, are learned, so as to make all the idioms of the language familiar. In a few weeks the student is able to converse fluently, as a beginner with a limited vocabulary. The series embraces the Hand book, and the application to German and French.

STEVEN LAWRENCE, YEOMAN. A Novel. By Mrs. Edwards, author of "Archie Lovell," "Ordeal for Wives," &c. Elegantly Illustrated. Published by Sheldon & Co., New York.

This story is familiar to many of our readers. installments of it having already appeared in the Galaxy. This edition of the author is printed from advanced sheets. Those who have been charmed with the first chapters of the story will be glad to get it in this complete form, to place in their libraries. The volume is very handsomely illustrated.

THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP. By Charles Dickens: Published by Ticknor & Fields, Boston.

This volume is one of the "Charles Dickens' Edition;" and possesses features unlike any of the of the various editions of Dickens. It is neatly gotten up, both as regards type, paper and binding, and is a very nice affair throughout. The story of Little Nell, Quilp, Dick Swiviller, are familiar to our readers.

FAIRFAX: Or the Master of Greenway Court. A Chronicle of the Valley of the Shenandoah. By John Esten Cooke. New York: G. W. Carlton & Company.

This is a story of a century ago, and introduces Lord Fairfax, former owner of all the northern neck of Virginia, his factotum, a border Captain, Wagner by name, and various settlers, each a type of the place and period.

MAY MAGAZINES.

Harper's Magazine, for May, closes the current volume. Eighteen years ago this magazine was projected on a scale unprecedented in this department of literature, and the plan so well begun has been sustained, if anything there has been a constant improvement from year to year. Notwithstanding the establishment of so many other periodicals of somewhat similar scope, its circulation has not been lessened. Every department is perfect in itself and under the direction of efficient editors, one for the "Monthly Record of Current Events," "Easy Chair," &c. It enters upon a new year with brilliant prospects, and is worthy of the extensive patronage it receives.

Putnam's Magazine.—The fifth number warrants the same commendation as the previous have received. The variety of subjects discussed, and the ability of the writers, at once make this magazine worthy of the enconiums so freely bestowed on it by the press generally. It seems to occupy a place in the literary world that the old Putnam of by-gone years so well and ably filled. The editorial chair of the Tribune, with a picture of Horace Greeley, by Nash, is a noticeable feature of this number.

Lippincott's Magazine contains some sterling papers, which give it a high place among the monthlies. Its literary merit is of the first order, and besides the ample table of articles of this character in each number, it usually contains papers of solid, practical worth, of great moment to commercial and financial men. This feature is an important and commendable one.

Hours at Home.—This monthly, published by C. Scribner & Co., New York, is well named as a "popular monthly of instruction and recreation." It is well suited and safe in the family circle. and elevated in tone. The May number contains papers of great practical value, and combines instruction and entertainment for all classes.

The Atlantic Magazine contains two papers, widely different in character, which have provoked liberal criticism, and have been extensively read. We allude to the articles, "Trotting Horses," and "Our Roman Catholic Brethren." The latter caused quite a stir among the religious papers. It is an article of ability, and however questionable some points are, it will command attention. We may refer to it again.

The Religion of Abyssinia.

Abyssinia has had a Christian Church since the days of Athanasius, who sent a mission from Alexandria. of which he was Bishop, in the year 335 of our era. The Abyssinian Christian creed is substantially that of the Greek Church. It enjoins also many Jewish observances, such as circumcision, tabernacle service, Sabbath (not Sunday) observance and abstinence from blood and from pork. Baptism, the Communion, Lent and fasting on Wednesdays and Fridays, are strictly observed. Abyssinia is the Switzerland of Africa, and its churches, of which almost every village has one though no better than a barn or cowhouse in style, are always placed in a commanding position, surrounded by the fine trees of the country, the candelabra tree, flowering aloe, the myrtle, the mimosa, the bamboo, the cedar and the fern. In each church is a sacred enclosure into which no bribes can even secure the admission of any save the priests. In this are preserved the manuscript Bibles, written in the old Ethiopic characters and freely illustrated in a very rude way. One of these illustrations represents God creating man, holding Adam and Eve by the hand, while a number of human heads are distributed about, all "after his own image." The Abyssinian Bible is said to contain a writing not included in our Scriptures, the Book of Henock. Within recent times rude artists have abundantly adorned the Abysinian churches with pictures. One of these, and one of the most remarkable, in which the crossing of the Red Sea is represented, shows the host of Pharaoh holding Abysinian match-locks high above their heads. The number of priests is enormous. When Gondar was the capital it had forty-four churches, and every one of these had above three hundred priests or deacons. They are black, of course, or dark brown, but all their religious pictures represent the saints in heaven as of pure white skin, and clad in red and yellow dressing gowns.

INTERESTING REVENUE CASE.

Government Officers on Trial for Bribery and Conspiracy—Objection to Main Witness on the Ground of Atheism.

In the United States District Court, Judge McCandless presiding, the case of the United States vs. Richard F. Wilson and Charles C. Johnson, indictment bribery (receiving bribes) and conspiracy to defraud the revenue, was taken up on Tuesday about noon. R. B. Carnahan, District Attorney, Gen. F. H. Collier and John Zuber appeared for the Government, and Messrs. J. H. Hopkins, Thos. M. Marshall and William McNair for the defendants.

The history of the case in brief is about this: A Mr. John F. Smith was engaged in the oil distilling or refining business at Rouseville, Venango county, and from some cause, in May and June, 1867, he became involved financially, being indebted to the government, in arrearages of tax, to the amount of between $4,000 and $5,000. His establishment was seized, or distressed, but, upon giving bond, he was allowed to operate. Whilst his establishment was idle, in the month of June, it is alleged that Smith was approached by the defendants Wilson and Johnston, the former Assistant Assessor and the latter Revenue Inspector in the 20th Collection District, with headquarters at Meadville. Wilson's sub-district was that which included Oil City, in Venango county. Smith was weak enough, after considerable negotiation, as is alleged, to yield to the suggestions, made to him by defendants, and started his refinery in September, 1867, continuing it until last January, when it was seized for alleged frauds. He made no defense to the libel filed against his property, and it was sold for the benefit of the Government; but he made a statement under oath revealing the "arrangement" he had entered into with defendants, by which, he says, some five hundred barrels of oil were produced and sold without the payment of Government tax, by the use of a false inspection brand, and with the assistance afforded by the defendants as government officers. It was on the strength of Smith's statement that the bill was found by the grand jury.

The case having been formally opened, the indictment, which is very long, embracing four counts, was read, and the evidence for the government commenced by the production of certified copies of the appointments of Wilson and Johnston severally as Assistant Assessor and Revenue Inspector. They were appointed in 1866, the former in November and the latter in December.

John F. Smith was then called by Mr. Carnahan.

Mr. Hopkins, for defense, objected to his being sworn, on the ground that he was an atheist, proposed to prove the fact *ab*unde*, and proceeded to call witnesses.

George Owens, sworn—Know John F. Smith. Have heard him make declarations about his religious belief. Have heard him abuse the Deity several times.

Mr. Carnahan objected to any other question being put except that as to whether the defendant expressed his belief as to future rewards and punishments.

It was suggested that the evidence was entirely for the Court.

Witness continued—Heard Smith say Christ was a bastard, and that God Almighty was a pretty clever old fellow. At the time his refinery was burned, and he got burnt by benzine, he said he had received his punishment, and all that any man would receive would be about equivalent to scorching by benzine, as God Almighty was a clever old fellow.

Cross-examined—I reside at Rouseville. Am not a religious man.

Question by Mr. Carnahan—Have you ever heard Smith state his belief as to a future state?

Answer—Cannot say that I ever heard him express his belief, but judged of his belief by his irreverent expressions as to the Deity. I am engaged in the business of shipping oil. Have resided in Mr. Smith's immediate neighborhood since 1866; have known him since 1865. Came from Missouri in 1865. Was in the army under Rosecranz. Was subpœnaed by the defense. Asked Smith to have me subpœnaed, for the reason that I desired to go before the grand jury and expose his villainy as near as I could. Did not say to him that I would be a good witness for the United States.

Mr. Carnahan (producing a letter)—Is that your signature?

Witness—I don't know.

Mr. Carnahan—Look at it; is that your signature?

Witness—I can't say without seeing the paper; it might be a forgery.

Witness, (having read the letter)—I wrote this letter to Smith after I found out his villainy toward me.

Mr. Carnahan—Then you had a quarrel?

Witness was proceeding in rather an excited manner to state the nature of "Smith's villainy," when he suddenly checked himself, saying, "I'll not make a speech to the Court."

By the Court—Did you ever hear Smith say he did not believe in future rewards and punishments?

Witness—I will not swear positively as to that.

Thomas Clark, sworn—Have known Smith for five years. Have heard him speak of his religious belief, but not for three years. Have heard him say that it was all nonsense to believe in a future state of rewards and punishment, and that all the punishment would be on this earth. Have heard him say that any one who believed in God was a d— fool. I was pretty wicked myself, but what he said frightened me.

Cross-examined by Mr. Carnahan—I follow the business of drawing oil; have lived in the oil regions between five and six years. Went there from Clarion county.

Question—Were you ever arrested for stealing a barrel of oil?

Answer—There never was anything brought up against me.

—Smith expressed the opinion that all the punishment a man would get would be in this world. Never heard him expressly say that he did not believe in the existence of a God. Was not subpœnaed in this case, but am in another. This matter was called to my attention last night in a conversation in the cars coming to the city. Was asked what I thought about the case. Said I thought Wilson was in a pretty bad box.

E. W. Button, of Rouseville, testified he had known Smith for two years. Heard him remark that he was no God's man; never heard him say anything about future punishment.

Cross-examination—It was in a conversation last Saturday night a week ago that Smith said he was no God's man. He was speaking about his house and said they had more fun there than at any house about.

The evidence in support of the objection here closed.

Mr. Carnahan proposed to offer evidence as to Smith's religious belief, and to first call Smith himself.

Mr. Hopkins objected. The defense might have called him in the first instance, and would have been concluded by his answers; but they elected to prove his incompetency *ab*unde*. Mr. Hopkins maintained that the government could not interrogate him under oath at this stage.

John Zuber, called by Mr. Carnahan, testified he had been very well acquainted with Smith for five years. Recollected calling at his house, on a Sabbath; the conversation turned on the Bible, a handsome copy of which was lying on a table with Webster's unabridged dictionary; he said he thought about the Bible as many other people did, and that it was very useful in the house. He expressed the belief there was no use in so many congregations, or denominations. He said he believed in God, and that punishment would all be on this earth.

Cross-examined by Mr. Marshall—I am here as private counsel for the government. Smith does not go to church, and is a very profane man when anything goes wrong. The conversation I refer to occurred about four weeks ago. Smith said religion was a very good thing and a Bible very useful in the house. He spoke of denominations quarreling, and said there was no use in it, as they all believed in the same God. He said he believed he stood as good a chance as any, although he did not go to church. This was about the sum of the conversation.

—— Page, testified he knew Smith very well. Had conversed with him on religious subjects. He said he believed the punishment a man would get would be on earth, at least the most of it. He believed there was a God, who was not a stationary God, a Judge, like a Judge on the bench. He lost a child and spoke of it as being better off.

Robert Walker, sworn—Have known Smith for three years; boarded in his house and worked about his factory. Have heard him say, when everything went right, that God was on our side. He believed that punishment would be on this earth.

Cross-examined—When everything went wrong, he would be profane and say he had bad luck.

W. Groves—Knew Smith very well; did not know that he took religious papers.

Mr. Walker was recalled and testified Smith took an Episcopal paper; did not remember the name.

By Mr. Marshall—Was it the New York Clipper?

Witness—That's a sporting paper.

Mr. M.—Then you know the name of that paper. Where is the paper Smith takes printed?

Witness—At Cincinnati.

The evidence here closed, and the Court overruled the objection.

John F. Smith was sworn and testified—Live at Rouseville, Venango county. Have been engaged in the business of refining oil; was so engaged in 1867 until after Jan. 1st, 1868. I made full and complete returns to Wilson, one of the defendants, from September, 1867, to January, 1868; full returns were not made by Wilson to the Government. He (Wilson) was the Assistant Assessor of Internal Revenue at Oil City, which is about two miles from Rouseville. Johnston, the other defendant, told me he was a Revenue Detective. I think I made and sold more than five hundred barrels of oil upon which the Government tax was not paid. Every barrel of oil I made was entered in a book, which book has been destroyed at the instance of defendants. I took the book to Wilson and he made a return from it to suit himself. I signed the papers in blank. The arrangement was to start my establishment on the 5th of September, and it was then started. The shipments of the oil on which tax was not paid commenced in October and continued until January, and during that time the amount made, shipped and sold, without payment of tax, was about five hundred barrels. I commenced refining oil in 1865, and up until September, 1867, no oil had been fraudulently disposed of by me. In June of last year Johnston came to my place and wanted to handle my oil; he wanted to ship and sell on commission. About the same time, last summer, Wilson told me Johnston was overhauling the railroad books to detect frauds, said I should not speak to him, (Johnston,) that he was a "sharper," and not show him my books. I said Johnston could have my books and make the best of them. He (Johnston) never called on me. Some time after this Wilson told me that Johnston was living off the men whose books he was overhauling—that they would give him some money and he would go off. They were working up a case against Cole; Wilson told me that Cole would not pay Johnston. I owed the Government $4,000 or $5,000, about the first of June, 1867, and my establishment was distressed, locked up. I gave bond, and was allowed to go to work; while the refinery was stopped defendants called to see me; Wilson told me what I could do, and wanted me to do it; told me to start my works and pay the Government out of the profits, that he would furnish me with a counterfeit brand, so that I could do my own inspecting. Did not start my works, as I wanted to know how Johnston felt about it. Johnston told me to do as Wilson told me. I told him (Johnston) that would not do. Johnston was very "foxy" and very hard to treat with. I told him it was dangerous. Johnston said it was not. I wanted to know why. Finally he (Johnston) told me he was at the head of a "ring." He said Mr. McGuff, the Collector, was not in it, that he would not have him in. Johnston said there was do danger if I would follow Wilson's instructions. After a time, in September, I went to refining. Had conversations with Wilson and Johnston almost every day in Oil City about starting. I was to pay to the Government what I owed first, and Wilson and Johnston a little along for their trouble. The money was all to be paid to Wilson, and Johnston was to cover up all tracks. I paid Wilson in sums of $50, $100 and $200, in all about $600. I have communications from Wilson, asking for money. [Produced a letter.] Can't tell now how I received this. It is in Wilson's hand writing.

The letter was read by Mr. Carnahan. It bore date October 7, 1867, and was a request for a sum of money to enable the writer, Wilson, to pay a note. The concluding sentence was, "Destroy when read."

The Court at this point adjourned.

Art Headquarters.

The old and sterling house of J. J. Gillespie, No. 86 Wood street, which has for more than a quarter of a century been prominently recognized as art headquarters for Western Pennsylvadia, has recently been materially strengthened by the admittance to co-partnership with the senior of Messrs. Fred. S. Wall, Louis Egbert and Asa S. Gillespie. The addition of these gentlemen to the firm, at the head of which Mr. Gillespie will continue, devoting his attention exclusively to the business, will strengthen the house and make it still more attractive to the trade. Mr. Wall has for the past twenty years occupied a high position as a portrait and landscape artist, and brings with him into his new position liberal knowledge of everything pertaining to art. He will have charge of the art departments, colors, canvass, framing of pictures and the several duties so essential in all art depots. He knows just what patrons require, and to him may be safely entrusted costly paintings and gems of art for framing, retouching or repairing. Mr. Egbert has devoted the past ten years to the gilding department, and is a master of that art. He is a valuable acquisition to the firm, as the house manufactures largely of all kinds of frames, being in the front rank of the trade in that line of goods. Mr. Asa Gillespie, the remaining partner, has been reared among mirrors, paintings, and works of art, and thoroughly understands every detail of the business. Under the style of J. J. Gillespie & Co. the firm will continue to occupy their elegant new building on Wood street, which is now stocked from basement cellar to fifth floor with as large and as varied a supply of paintings, engravings, lithographs, crayon drawings, chromos, picture frames, mirrors, looking glasses and artists materials as can be found in any similar establishment in the United States. We wish the new firm abundant success and bespeak an increase of the generous patronage awarded to the house during the past thirty years.

Home Again.

Robert W. Mackey, Esq., Cashier of the Allegheny National Bank, arrived home on Monday evening after an extended tour in the sunny South, necessitated by declining health. His many friends, and few gentlemen in this community have more, will be pleased to learn that his trip fully restored him, and that he brings with him a new store of vigor which, we trust, will not again be wasted by too close attention to the duties pertaining to the bank position he has so long and creditably occupied.

East Birmingham Council.

A regular monthly meeting of the Council of the borough of East Birmingham was held last evening in their room in the Walton Hose Company Building.

Members present—Messrs. Beck, Ihmsen, Feell, Walter, Feld, Zellers, Burgess Slocum and J. R. Jacques, Clerk.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Ihmsen, from the Finance Committee, reported that the salaries of the borough officers had been fixed as follows:

Clerk, $200 per annum; Treasurer, $600 per annum; Constable, Lamplighter and Wharfmaster, $600 per annum.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Beck, from the Fire Committee, reported that in the matter of the request of the Walton Hose Company, for shirts, hats and belts, the Committee had the matter under consideration. Report accepted.

Mr. Feld, from the committee appointed to take steps toward having the borough divided into two election precincts, reported that the committee could do nothing in the matter, and power would have to be obtained from the Legislature. Report accepted and committee discharged.

The petition of Captain Yard, asking exoneration from payment of tax on his strip of land, for paving Josephine street, was taken up.

Mr. Beck stated that the members of Council had not met Mr. Yard as agreed, and not having consulted on the matter nothing could be done in the matter.

Captain Yard was present, and by permission stated the grounds on which he asked exoneration, claiming that on account of the size and shape of his land the assessment was excessive.

After some discussion, a motion of Mr. Beck, that the amount be collected, was carried.

On motion of Mr. Zellers, the Burgess was authorized to advertise for proposals for the grading and paving of Sydney street, Carey alley from Harmony to Joseph street and Merriman alley, and the grading of Sarah street between Harmony and Railroad street.

Mr. Beck made reference to the fact that the Ormsby heirs, or some of them, had made a proposition to give to the borough a plat of ground on Larkin's alley on which to erect a market house.

On motion of Mr. Beck a committee consisting of Messrs. Ihmsen and Beck was appointed to confer with the representatives of the heirs on the matter.

A resolution of Mr. Beck authorizing the Treasurer to pay interest on the borough bonds as it became due was adopted.

On motion of the same gentleman, amended by Mr. Ihmsen, the Street Commissioner was required to give bonds in the sum of $1,000, on account of money advanced to him.

The committee appointed to confer with the old borough in relation to the paving of Harmony street was continued.

Petitions were presented, signed by property holders, asking for the grading and paving of Fox alley between John and Joseph street, and Joseph and Harmony street. Accepted and prayer granted.

Mr. Patterson, the Borough Regulator, reported an estimate for the grading authorized, as follows:

Carey alley, Railroad to Page street, 300 yards. Merriman's alley, Joseph to Meadow street, 1,400 yards. Harmony street, Joseph to Wharton street, 5,500 yards.

Mr. Patterson also reported that a temporary wharf can be constructed at the foot of Page street for about $500.

The bills of the Dispatch and Post, for publishing financial statement of the borough, were presented and referred to the Finance Committee.

A warrant was ordered for $12 for the Commercial for publishing Treasurer's notice.

On motion of Mr. Foell, a warrant was ordered in favor of the Street Commissioner for $176 72, and an additional $300 00 when the bond above referred to shall have been given.

On motion of Mr. Feld, the Street Committee was instructed to have Joseph street repaired immediately.

Councils adjourned to meet Tuesday evening two weeks.

After adjournment, the members of Council and the reporters of the Press were handsomely entertained by Mr. Christian Feld, who has just opened a restaurant on Carson street.

Man Missing—Supposed Suicide.

A few days since an information was made against Jacob Lies, a merchant of Allegheny, by a girl who resides in his family, the particulars of which were published in the GAZETTE. Mr. L. waived a hearing in the case, entered bail for his appearance at Court, and firmly protested his innocence of the charge. After this he was been much depressed in spirits and asserted that he was disgraced by such an accusation, false as it was. He remained in the house several days, and all day on Sunday declined to yield to the request of his wife that they should ride out. Shortly after dark on that evening he dressed himself, and telling his wife that he was going to take a short walk, started out. Since that time he had not been seen or heard from, until Monday evening, when a raftman, watching some rafts moored on the Allegheny side of the river, between the Hand street and Railroad bridge, found a bundle of clothes partially secreted under some loose boards. The clothing consisted of coat, vest, pair of pants, boots and and hat. They were removed to the Mayor's office, where in the pockets of the coat was found a book containing papers showing that they belonged to Mr. Lies. The wife also identified the clothing as that worn by her husband when he left home on Sunday evening, and there seems to be no room for doubt that, laboring under mental derangement, he committed suicide. The supposed suicide was about thirty-five years of age, and leaves a wife and five children. Previous to the preferment of the charge alluded to he has borne a good character.

In the GAZETTE of Monday morning we published an account of a mysterious occurrenre on the Hand street bridge, which may in some manner be connected with the above.

A Riotous Proceeding.

A difficulty occurred at Mellon's Coal Works, at Osceola, Monday, between the manager and the hands, which for a time presented a very threatening aspect, but fortunately ended without anything serious taking place. It appears that the men have lost confidence in the manager and demand his removal. They requested him to leave, but he declined to do so, when they banded together and threatened to do him some serious injury unless he left the premises at once. They were quieted by some of the more reasonable miners, who promised to have him removed quietly. Fearing that they would carry their threats into execution, Mr. Jacob Snyder, the manager, came to the city yesterday and made information against Michael Baulbach, Matthias Schneider, John Meyer and John Flaus, who it is alleged were the leaders of the rebellious party, for surety of the peace. Warrants were issued for their arrest, and the two latter were arrested in the city, and after a hearing were held to bail in the sum of $1,000 each for their appearance at Court. The officers are in search of the others.

Too Drunk to Come.—Robert Campbell was charged before the Mayor yesterday, on oath of Jenny E. Haberfield, with assault and battery. She alleges that he struck her, knocked her down, and otherwise abused her. A warrant was issued for his arrest and placed in the hands of an officer who proceeded to his house to make the arrest. He found Campbell, but, he was so beastly drunk that the officer was unable to get him to the Mayor's office. He will be arrested when he gets sober enough to walk.

Amusements.

THE OPERA HOUSE.—Thirty-four pretty women, light on foot, light in heart, and light in a costume, the nearest approach to a description of which we have dim recollection of reading somewhere in the book of Genesis, contributed to form the attraction which drew together in the Opera House last evening quite a respectable number of gentlemen and a few ladies. To deny that this lovely corps of pretty women is an attraction, would develop a sorry lack of appreciation for the charms of the fair sex and consign us into the contemptuously thin ranks of the world's misogynists, or what is worse, might lead the reader to believe that we are in a measure prejudiced against the theatrical management which has contributed so largely towards framing correct and elevated tastes among the amusement loving portion of the community. We hold woman to be the most potent educator in the land; she occupies a higher sphere than man, and the great evil of society heretofore has been that the generality of the other sex saw too little of her, a popular error amply atoned for in this moral and high-toned exhibition of heaving bosoms and well developed pedal extremities. Why should we condemn the half-clad ballet girl and in the same breath advise readers to visit the museum to see so much of woman as the modest giantess or the chaste fat girl, for what the former lacks in size she fully makes up in the exposition of parts and parcels of her body which a fastidious world might deem sinful, improper and wantonly wicked.

The play last evening, the "Ice Witch," a meaningless production to serve as an introduction to the terpsichorean performances, was worried through about as well as usual by the stock company of the establishment. The obscene gag of one of the actors which could not have failed to bring the blush of shame to the cheek of any respectable lady in attendance, was an uncalled for exhibition of moral depravity, and, while it pleased the few unwashed gods in the gallery, shocked every pure minded person in the house, who regarded it as foul, filthy and disgusting, offensive alike to chastity and delicacy.

It is a high commentary on the moral character of our people that such entertainments fail to draw anything approaching large houses, and we cannot too highly commend the good taste displayed by the gentlemen who left their wives, daughters and lady friends at home, while they enjoyed the lascivious exhibition of obscenely attired females.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—To-night, at this favorite place of amusement, Messrs. Hart and Campbell take a joint benefit, on which occasion the wonderful M'lle. Turnour will appear in her daring trapeze act; Ben. Wheeler, Irish comedian and vocalist, in a new character and fancy songs, and over forty volunteers. This will be the greatest occasion of the season and Messrs. Hart and Campbell are deserving of a crowded house, as they have contributed so much to the enjoyment of the patrons of the "Old Drury."

MASONIC HALL.—Barnum's living curiosities, the Circassian girls, the Nova Scotia giantess, the fattest boy baby in the world, the fattest girl in America, and the smallest dwarf traveling. Receptions afternoons and evenings.

BURNELL'S MUSEUM.—Call in and see the new living creatures added to this museum. This is one of the few museums of the country worthy a visit.

A Correction.

We published yesterday an account of an accident in West Pittsburgh, by which Henry Sheridan had his leg broken, and referred to his unsuccessful efforts to get admission to the County Home, reflecting severely upon both Mr. Davis and Mr. Fortune. Our statement was based upon information received from Sheridan himself and from the Mayor, to whom he had also told his story, and had his statement been true, we would have nothing to retract; but we are informed by persons cognizant of the facts that it is false in several particulars, and therefore cheerfully make the correction. Sheridan it appears did not apply to Mr. Davis, but application was made to Mr. Fortune for admission to the City Farm, which of course Mr. F. could not grant, the applicant not being a resident of the city; but he did the best he could, however. He gave the person who made the application a note to Mr. Davis, but did not know at the time that Sheridan was in the wagon in front of his door. Instead of going to Mr. Davis the persons in charge of the wagon drove to the Mayor's office, where, for reasons unknown to us, Sheridan made the statement we published yesterday. It is but justice to state that the greatest harmony has ever prevailed between the Guardians of the Poor and the officers of the County Home, there being no conflict of authority or question of jurisdiction raised between them.

We regret having said anything derogatory of either Mr. Davis or Mr. Fortune, but, believed at the time that our information was reliable, which, however, we are pleased to find was not the case.

In Trouble Again.

A. S. Robinson is certainly one of the most unfortunate honest men we have ever known, in one sense, and peculiarly fortunate in another. His neighbors do not appear to understand or fully appreiate him. He has frequently been so unfortunate as to get into difficulty through misunderstandings, but has always been peculiarly fortunate in extricating himself from them. He is once more the victim of some misunderstanding, in consequence of which he is accused of obtaining money under false pretence, Patrick Bradley being the prosecutor. Mr. Bradley alleges that Robinson obtained $14.55 from him, by representing that Fahnestock, Foster & Co. owed him that amount, and giving him an order on them for the same. This it appears occurred some weeks since, and the day following Mr. Bradley presented the order, but instead of getting the money as he expected to do, he was informed that they owed Robinson nothing. He returned with the order and endeavored to find Robinson, but through some mistake that gentleman had gone East. He subsequently returned to the city and when informed by Bradley that the order had not been accepted, expressed his surprise, and promised to arrange the matter in a few days. Mr. B. waited, but failed to get a satisfactory settlement, and was compelled to prosecute. There must be some mistake about the matter, and if so, will be readily discovered by Alderman McMasters, who issued the warrant for his arrest, and made right.

Serious Accident.

A very singular and rather serious accident occurred yesterday morning at Denny's curve on the Pennsylvania Railroad, a short distance from Denny's Station. About seven o'clock in the morning a young man, whose name we were unable to learn, was found lying on the railroad track insensible. He, it appears, resided with his parents near where he was found, and they state that he retired at nine o'clock Monday evening. It is supposed that he got up in the night in a state of somnambulism and walked to the curve, a distance of one hundred yards, and accidentally fell over the high embankment at that point. He was removed to his father's residence, where, upon examination, it was discovered that he had received severe injuries about the head, and it is feared has sustained serious internal injury.

Insane Woman Committed.—A young woman was arrested by the police yesterday evening, at the end of the Hand street bridge, where she had been standing all day. She was taken to the Mayor's office, where it was discovered that she was insane. She was committed for thirty days in order to have her case brought before the Court.

Improvements.—The spirit of improvement is quite apparent on the South Side. We noticed yesterday no less than twelve houses in course of erection, some of them nearly completed, on Carson street, in Birmingham and East Birmingham. At the corner of Denman and Carson street the foundation for a three story brick building, iron front, fifty by one hundred feet, is about completed. On the opposite side of the street, a few doors from the corner, a row of frames, four in number, have been erected within a few days, and are about ready for roofing.

An Evil—The Cure.—In a few days the mercury will be on a high up among the nineties. Your Butter will melt, your chops and steaks become tainted, your eggs addled, your claret tepid, your milk curdled and a host of other evils plague you, unless you will adopt the expedient which all found so effectual last summer and provide yourself with an "XL All" refrigerator. We have tried three or four different makes, but those for sale by Geo. W. Hubley, at his house furnishing warerooms on Federal street above Lacock, will be found to "XL All" others—so say we—X-L-NT.

Female Bruisers.—Jenny E Haberfield made information before the Mayor, yesterday, charging Jane McGarvey with assault and battery. She alleges that the accused struck her several times and pulled her hair. Jane was arrested and "brought up" for a hearing, when it appeared that both had participated in the fun, and that one had received about as much bruising as the other. The case was dismissed at the request of the prosecutrix, who paid the costs.

Discharged.—Eliza Stewart made information before the Mayor, yesterday, charging her husband, John Stewart, with abandonment. John was arrested and taken before the Mayor for a hearing, when it appeared that he was justifiable in abandoning her, she being a woman of decidedly low character. The case was, therefore, dismissed, and the prisoner discharged.

Alleged Larceny.—Thomas J. Campbell made information before the Mayor yesterday, charging Michael Mullen and Edward Farrell with the larceny of $160. He alleged that the accussed came into his room in the night and the next morning he discovered that $160 had been taken from his pockets. The defendants were arrested and after a hearing were discharged.

Formerly thousands of dollars were expended in traveling to sunny climes, for the purpose of enjoying the balmy and fragrant breezes of floral fields. Now a bottle of Woodworth's "Flor del Espiritu Santo" saves all that trouble and expense, and imparts to the fortunate poossessor a fragrance surpassing the flowers themselves. W:s

A Thriving Business.—The Mayor did a thriving business in the way of "drunks and disorderlies." Fifteen cases of that character were disposed of, most of whom paid their fines.

Passed Through.—Joe Coburn, the "bruiser," passed through the city yesterday en route for Cincinnati, to prepare for the approaching match with McCoole.

Improvements.—A large number of buildings are being erected in Lawrenceville, at present. We notice four or five under way on Butler street.

"They made her a grave too cold and damp
For a soul so honest and true."

If they had been wise, the dire necessity of opening the grave for one so lovely might have been averted. Plantation Bitters, if timely used, are sure to rescue the young and lovely, the middle-aged, and the ailing, from confirmed sickness.

Almost all diseases have their beginning in some slight difficulty of the Stomach, which would eventuate in Dyspepsia, Headache, Liver Complaints, Night Sweats, Consumption, Death. Plantation Bitters will prevent these premonitory symptoms and keep the blood pure and the health good.

While they invigorate the system they enliven the mind.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—A delightful toilet article—superior to Cologne, and at half the price. MWF&F

Chapped Hands, face and all roughness of the skin, certainly cured by using the Juniper Tar Soap, made by Caswell, Hazard & Co., New York. It surpasses all other remedies as it will prevent roughness of the skin if used during cold weather. It is easily applied, avoiding all the trouble of the greasy compounds now in use. It can be used by ladies with the most tender skin, without irritation or pain, making it soft and clear. Sold by the druggists generally WT.

The Great Cause of the popularity of Wilson's Pills is their singular efficacy in the cure of Dyspepsia and Bilious complaints. Every one who has used them is ready to "repeat the dose" on a second emergency. Hence all the leading druggists in America find it necessary to keep them.
